YUGOSLAVS FREE 3 U. S. SOLDIERS

That Nation's Foreign Office Apologizes For Holding Americans

TRIO REPORTEDLY FORCED OVER BORDER AT GUNPOINT

TRIESTE, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Three United States soldiers, captives of the Yugoslavs since Monday, were reported officially to have returned to the free territory tonight.

They were First Lt. William Van Atten of East Orange, N. J., Pfc. Earl G. Hendrick, Jr., of Arlington, Va., and Pfc. Glen A. Myer of Edgeley, N. D.

The intelligence section of the U. S. 88th division said they arrived in the free territory at 9:20 p.m., local time (2:20 p.m., eastern standard time).

U. S. troop headquarters here announced Monday that the three, while patrolling the territorial border with Yugoslavia that day, were "forced across the frontier at gunpoint" by Yugoslav troops and taken into the village of Goriano.

Headquarters' protests to the Yugoslav mission in the free territory were fruitless, and the U. S. state department Thursday night announced it was taking up the matter with the Yugoslav government.

Yesterday the Yugoslav foreign office apologized to Cavendish Canon, U. S. ambassador to Belgrade, for detention of the soldiers and promised their release. Officials in Belgrade said they were freed last night.

MOTHER IS RELIEVED WHEN SON IS RELEASED

EDGELEY, N. D., Sept 27.—(AP)—A tired mother whose voice quavered as she spoke, relaxed today as she heard that her 19-year-old soldier son, Pfc. Glen A. Meyer, had been released by his Yugoslav captors.

"It hasn't been too easy, this wait," said Mrs. Edward Meyer, "but one has to have faith in those things."

"We wouldn't let ourselves think what might happen to him and we just knew he would come out all right," she added.

Mrs. Meyer, her husband who is an insurance man, and their three other children, had kept a vigil by their telephone, waiting for word of their son since he and two other soldiers were arrested at the Trieste frontier Monday.

Mrs. Meyer said they had had no

HUGE FORD TAX CLAIM SETTLED

Widow Of Edsel B. Pays $8,810,724.27 More To Government

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The remaining tax claim of $50,276,284.58 against the estate of Edsel B. Ford, son of Henry Ford and former head of the Ford Motor Company, has been settled for $8,810,724.27, it was learned today.

Mathematcallly, this figures out at settling for 17 cents on the dollar. Actually, the government reduced the amount it claimed was still due. It conceded that originally it over-valued Ford Motor Company stocks owned by Edsel Ford.

Mrs. Eleanor Clay Ford, Edsel's widow and executrix of his will, obtained the settlement from the Internal Revenue Bureau last month and the agreement now has been recorded in the United States tax court.

The $8,810,724.27 payment is in addition to a $15,824,369.07 payment by Mrs. Ford in August, 1944, and brings estate tax collections in the case to $24,635,093.34, the court records show.

Another $3,600,000 was paid by the estate in taxes on gifts made by Edsel Ford before his death on May 26, 1943, and brings his total estate and gift tax payments to more than $28,200,000.

The government originally claimed $66,270,653.65 was due it in estate taxes alone, while Mrs. Ford contended that her $15,824,369.07 payment in 1944 covered the entire tax owed.

The principal issue in the case was the value to be put on 1,153,809 shares of Class A Common and 59,411 shares of Class B Common Stock of the Ford

DAYLIGHT TIME TO END TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Millions of Americans who lost an hour of sleep last April 27 will even the score for another year when they push their clocks back one hour tomorrow to mark the end of Daylight Saving Time.

Daylight time will end in most communities where it has been observed at 2 a. m. tomorrow. Some 650 communities in the United States and Canada and 19 foreign countries observed daylight time this year.

The change also will affect railroads, bus lines and radio stations which conformed to daylight schedules.

Russia Accuses U. S. Of Trying To Justify Armed Intervention

Asserts America Using Greek Question To Undermine U. N.

By Larry Hauck

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Russia today accused the United States of attempting to justify armed American intervention in Greece and declared the United States was using the Greek question to undermine the United Nations.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko told the United Nations assembly's 55-nation political committee in a bitter 66-minute attack on American "interference" that the U. S. action "might cause the collapse of the U. N."

"The United States is ready to act in circumvention of the United Nations if their Greek proposal isn't accepted," Gromyko told the delegates. He then added carefully that the United States was attempting to "justify armed U. S. intervention in Greece" and was following a "dangerous path."

Gromyko rejected the proposal presented earlier by the United States in a formal resolution and re-offered a counter proposal absolving Soviet satellites of all blame for Balkan disorders.

The Russian resolution, a copy of one overwhelmingly rejected by the security council, blamed Greece for border unrest, demanded withdrawal of foreign troops and foreign military personnel from Greece, and asked the assembly to create a commission to supervise economic aid to Greece, an apparent reference to the Truman aid program.

The American proposal accuses Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia of supporting guerrilla warfare against the Greek government and calls for establishment of a special committee to investigate disturbances.

It was the second attack on U. S. policy within the day by the Soviet bloc. Poland asked the United Nations to condemn the Marshall plan for European economic recovery and called on all members to refuse to participate in any economic program set up outside the U. N.

Meanwhile, in the social committee, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt challenged a Soviet Ukraine charge that American agents in Europe were re-

QUINTUPLETS IN RUSSIA REPORTED

MOSCOW, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The newspaper Evening Moscow said today quintuplets—three boys and two girls—had been born to a farm woman in the Buriat Mongolian Republic of the Soviet Union.

A dispatch said the mother was Khonda Perendzapova of a collective farm near Ulan Ude in the Shitkansky locality of the Bargazinsky Aimak region.

It reported that the children, born "recently," all were normal and were progressing and that the mother was well. The collective farm has donated money for the family, the report said, and a nurse has been sent to look after them.

The children's names were not given.

13-YEAR-OLD BOY GIVEN LIFE TERM

Will Go First To Reformatory And Then To Penitentiary

PIKEVILLE, Ky., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Court attaches disclosed today that Circuit Judge R. Monroe Fields late yesterday imposed a life sentence at hard labor on 13-year-old Crawford Casebolt, convicted of armed robbery.

The court decreed that the seventh-grade school pupil be removed Monday to the reform school at Greendale until he is 21, after which it was directed that he be transferred to the Lagrange penitentiary "to spend the rest of his natural life at hard labor."

Casebolt stood silently while the sentence was being imposed and made no show of emotion.

The sheriff's office said Casebolt's accomplices—Homer Zimmerman, 19, and Mark Smith, 23, already had been taken to Lagrange to start serving their terms, imposed yesterday.

They and Casebolt, all of Ford's Branch, Ky., were convicted of robbing Harold E. Roberts, 23, of Virgie, Ky., last July of his automobile, watch and $4.84 in cash.

Roberts had stopped to give Case-

HIGH PRICES HIT OFFICE WORKERS

Some low-Salaried Employes Are 'Seriously Undernourished'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Senator Flanders (R-VT) said today food prices have climbed so high in New York City and some other large metropolitan areas that some white collar workers and low-salaried job holders are "seriously undernourished."

Flanders has been directing two weeks of public hearings by a Senate-House subcommittee investigating high costs of food and clothing.

"It is my personal opinion that there is a submerged population in New York City and some other large cities," Flanders told a reporter in summarizing results of four days of hearings in the New York area.

He defined "submerged population" as those persons whose incomes have not kept pace with the rise in the cost of living.

Flanders said that data from welfare agencies, hospitals and other sources in the larger cities disclosed that soaring food prices caused "serious undernourishment for a large part of the population."

The wage advances that have been made go largely to those who already were getting relatively high wages," the Senator said, adding that these higher wage level workers usually are found in fields where unions are strongly organized.

"I think there is evidence that white-collar workers and low-salaried job holders are hurt each time the upper level groups win a new wage advance," he said. "These advances often are at the expense of the low-wage earners."

Flanders said that food costs had gone up so much in the larger cities that the original plan of the congressional group to probe clothing costs also has been over-shadowed.

"One clothing manufacturer told us that food costs had gone so high that a good third of the population is unable to buy what they need in the

RANGERS ARE TOLD TO STOP SABOTAGE

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Gov. Beauford H. Jester said today he had instructed the department of public safety to send as many Rangers as may be necessary to halt what he said was sabotage and destruction of property in five South Texas oil areas.

Jester said these Rangers would supplement forces sent earlier when he had received reports of a strike and mass picketing.

"Two Rangers were sent and subsequently there have been acts of sabotage on some leases where they were not patrolling," Jester said.

"I have instructed Joe Fletcher, acting director of the department of public safety to get enough Rangers down there to stop sabotage and destruction of property on wells and well equipment."

Jester said the sabotage had been reported from Nueces, San Patricio Jim Wells, Brooks and Duval counties.

Local 227 of the Oil Workers International Union (C. I. O.) filed an injunction suit at Corpus Christi Sept. 25 against Ranger Captain Alfred Allee to prevent interfering with picketing. Jester said the suit would have no effect on his order to the department of public safety.

"Not even a temporary order was issued and there has been no legal action to prevent the governor from sending the Rangers," Jester said.

Jester said in one instance, the gas supply to a drilling well had been cut off by cutting a valve, which had resulted in danger of a blowout while repairs were being made.

Jester said he was determined that "law and order" be maintained in the area.

NEW LATE MODEL BUS TRIED OUT

The Muncipal Bus department the past week gave a tryout of a new Reo bus on the South Side line. During the single day that it was operated at the request of the manufacturers, it received general approval, stated W. D. Rodriguez, commissioner of finance and public utilities.

He stated that bids will not be open for new buses until October 7, and that the bus that was sent to Monroe was for demonstration purposes only.

The bus seats 34 passengers whereas the present largest buses operated seat only 31 passengers.

Drivers and mechanics stated that they were well pleased with the bus shown here, Mr. Rodriguez said, but he stated that he has no idea what the price will be of this late equipment and will not know until bids are opened.

BRITISH WAR HERO GOES TO TRIAL IN SLAYING OF YOUTH

JERUSALEM, Sept. 27.—(AP)—One of the most tangled cases in Palestine's violent history goes to trial next week when Capt. Roy Alexander Farran will be placed in the dock in front of a British military court on charges in connection with the mystery killing of a 16-year-old Jewish boy.

Cloaked in the intrigue of a detective thriller with political trimmings, the case puts a British war hero in the role of defendant in the unexplained death of Alexander Rubowitz.

Farran, reduced from the rank of major by being 21 days A. W. O. L. from his unit, is 26 years old and a one-time student at Stoneyhurst, famous British public school. He rocketed to war fame by spectacular bravery in acton in Europe, Greece, the Balkans and Middle East.

He wears the Distinguished Service order and three Military Crosses from Britain, the Order of Merit from the United States and the Croix de Guerre from France.

Rubowitz was the son of an oriental Jewish pharmacist in Jerusalem's MEA Shearim quarter and was suspected of being affiliated with the Stern gang, one of Jerusalem's underground Jewish groups.

It was the Stern gang which, after Rubowitz disappeared May 6, demanded in its underground communiques that the police explain the youth's whereabouts and fate.

Sources familar with the investigation say the story goes like this:

Once the war ended Farran and some three dozen others who fought behind the lines ,all toughened and seasoned soldiers, were loaned to Palestine police by the British army. Theirs was the chore of striking at the Jewish underground on its home grounds, in the Jewish cafes and darkened streets of the Jewish quarters.

Farran joined, then led, "lightning patrols" which nabbed youths in ter-

FOOD AND MEAT ITEMS ARE DOWN

Public Finds Quick Taste Of High Cost Of Living Too Bitter

SLASHES IN SOME CITIES SHARPER THAN IN OTHERS

(By Associated Press)

The price tags on major food items were lower at many groceries and meat markets across the country Saturday—after the public got a quick taste of the record high cost of eating and found it too bitter.

A spot check of representative cities from coast to coast disclosed that fresh meats, butter or eggs or all three items were down from the record retail price peaks in most sections.

In most places the retail prices were only a few cents lower than two weeks ago, but in some cities the slashes were much sharper.

In Seattle, for example, pork at 75 cents a pound represented a drop of 18 cents; in Denver butter fell 13 cents to 79 cents a pound; in Washington, D. C., sirloin steaks dropped from 93 to 79 cents a pound and porterhouse steaks from 89 to 73; at Philadelphia eggs dropped 10 cents a dozen selling at from 79 to 87 cents.

However, in a few cities, prices were still climbing on some foods.

Retailers, market analysts and business research organizations agreed that consumer resistance was a major factor in the declines. Refusal of many housewives to buy the highest priced food items at their stores caused a drop in the wholesale price level which is now reaching the retailer.

Dun and Bradstreet reported that discrimination against high-priced meats, butter and eggs continued at the retail level and that sporadic resistance was "generally strong enough to halt the spiral" in some food lines.

Food sales, however, were heavier than the week before with poultry, cheese, and inexpensive canned meats in heavy demand, the business research firm said.

Meanwhile some basic foods, including milk, continued to rise, and the general price outlook was obscure. Although prices in most wholesale food markets and on major grain exchanges started a steady decline a week and a half ago, prices leveled off and in some cases staged comebacks late this week. Also, the pon-

A dollar bill sped its way around Monroe for probably a year, meantime its owner died, then through a twist of Fate it suddenly turned up and got into the hands of a former co-worker of its owner. This is in brief, the history of a "short snorter dollar bill." Everybody recalls that one of the stunts that occurred in connection with World War II, was the circulation of these bills that were at the outset popular when they bore in ink on their face names of men in armed service, and were supposed to bear originally only names of men who had flown the ocean in connection with war duties.

Later almost anybody got his name on such bills and it was a fad to inscribe signatures on a "short snorter." When a party was given at Selman navigation school, then in charge of Col. Earl L. Naiden, for representatives of the local press and radio early in 1943, a number of "short snorter" bills were circulated. Stanley J. Reid was one of those attending who had a bill well-inscribed with names. He kept it as a souvenir. Sometime in 1946 it got lost. On March 25, 1947, Mr. Reid died and exactly two months later, May 25, 1947, Miss Madeline Cannon, employed in the advertising

POLICE CAPT. BUSBY RETIRING AFTER 21 YEARS ON CITY FORCE

The retirement on pension of Capt. James M. Busby after more than 21 years as a member of the Monroe police department was announced yesterday by his brother and immediate superior, Chief J. D. Busby, as effective next Wednesday, October 1.

Actually, Capt. Busby has been a city employe for 22 years, for he was a motorman on the municipal streetcar lines for one year after he came to Monroe in 1925 from Caldwell parish, where he was born near Columbia, June 3, 1900. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Busby, who now live in West Monroe.

The retiring officer's official record at headquarters is one of all-around efficiency and capability and discloses him as an expert in the safety and health phases of police work. After he had been induced to leave the railway department and join the police force and had been sworn in on June 28, 1926, he was placed in the traffic

New Stress Laid On Curbing Costs

Emergency Aid To Be Top Subject For Republican And Democratic Leaders At Parley With Truman Monday

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—New stress on holding down American prices developed today in a report of 16 European nations that any big advance will boost their $22,400,000,000 estimate for long range foreign aid.

High prices, particularly of grain and other food, figure too in the cost of emergency, hurry-up help for Europe. Emergency aid is the top topic for Republican and Democratic congressional leaders at a White House conference Monday with President Truman and key cabinet members.

With the problems of prices and of preventing starvation and Communism from stalking Western Europe fitting together like a jig saw puzzle, Monday's White House meeting, and another Wednesday, will hunt some of the missing pieces.

The conference with congressional chiefs is expected to determine whether President Truman will call a special session to provide stop-gap assistance for the next few months. Mr. Truman wants to avoid one, if possible.

The Wednesday conference will bring together the president's citizens committee to spearhead a national campaign to "waste less food." A food committee of cabinet members has said this is the only plan offering any immediate hope of helping to feed Europe without pumping up prices at home.

Developments that may influence the two conferences:

1. The success and size of Western Europe's $22,400,000,000 four year plan for recovery was described as depending in part on whether American prices are held near the levels of last July. The state department released tonight a 50,000 word report from the 16 nations which drafted the plan at a Paris meeting. Previously, a summary had been given out.

2. Prices of all grains rose substantially today on the big Chicago board of trade. But the second weekly decline in a row in the Associated Press weighted wholesale price index of five commodities pointed toward lower retail prices later for some major food and other items.

3. Senator Flanders (R.-Vt.), chairman on a Senate-House subcommittee investigating high prices in the east, told a reporter some white collar and low-salaried workers in New York and some other metropolitan areas are "seriously undernourished" because their food prices have gone so high.

4. Greece reportedly will ask the United States to provide an extra $100,000,000 to expand her forces for fighting guerrillas. This would be in addition to $300,000,000 already authorized for civilian relief and military purposes, and some $50,000,000 for "emergency" relief. Chairman Taber (R.-N. Y.) of the House appropriations committee, now in Athens, said the Greeks have plenty

DAIREN RULED BY RUSSIAN FORCES

Soviet-Chosen Chinese Government Under Stalin's Army

SEOUL, Korea, Sept. 27.— (AP) — Dairen, greatly shrunken in population and area, is ruled by a Russian-chosen Chinese government under the Russian military, the U. S. consul general from that once-thriving Manchurian seaport said today.

The first news in many months from the city which has become a postwar pawn was given to reporters by Consul Gen. H. M. Benninghoff, who brought his wife to Seoul for medical treatment.

The couple was flown from Dairen to Pyongyang, Soviet headquarters in northern Korea, by Soviet plane, and came on to Seoul by train. There has been no American transportation to Dairen since last March when the Russians refused to approve further monthly visits by a navy dispatch craft.

Since then, the consul's only outside contact has been by coded messages which the Russians relay for him to the U. S. consulate at Vladivostok.

Benninghoff declined to say whether the Russian-sponsored Chinese government of the city was Communist. He commented only that it was known as the "Kwantung government," the name of the peninsula on which Dairen and nearby Port Arthur are situated. It was not clear whether this regime also covered Port Arthur, as Benninghoff said he had "no occasion" to go to the latter, 35 miles away by train.

It evidently gives no allegiance, however, to the central government of China, which has been unsuccessful in efforts to assume administration as provided in the Chinese-Russian treaty of 1945.

The treaty gives the Russians a naval base at Port Arthur and makes Dairen a free port under Chinese civil administration except in the event of war. The Russians are maining on the ground that a state of war still exists with Japan.

Benninghoff reported that of Dairen's former population of more than 1,000,000, a quarter-million Japanese had been repatriated and many Chinese had moved to Chinese national territory.

He said that he was allowed free movement within the city limits but remarked that they had been considerably reduced by exclusion of the suburbs which once were counted as part of the city.

Beside the Benninghoffs, Americans living in Dairen are Vice-Consul Isaac Patch, Jr., and his wife and daughter, and C. B. Kinney of Honolulu, who declined repatriation because his Japanese wife would not go with him, Benninghoff declared.

All, he said, have been properly treated by the Russians and are able

RINGLING GIRL GETS LICENSE TO MARRY

FORT WORTH, Tex., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Miss Mabel Ringling, 23, granddaughter of a founder of the Ringling Brothers Circus and a performer in the big combined show, confirmed today that she and Richard Durant, an elephant trainer, obtained a marriage license in Shreveport, La., Monday.

At the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus lot, Miss Ringling and Durant said they were not yet married and were "not sure when it will take place.

With a Louisiana license, it was assumed they would not be married before the show returns to that state. Its next Louisiana appearance will be at Lake Charles, October 6.

Visibly upset by reports of the romance which became public before she was able to inform her mother and step-father, James A. Haley, president of the circus, Miss Ringling declared she didn't "want all that ballyhoo."

"I did want to tell my parents about it before it became public," she said.

Mrs. Haley was reported en route today to Fort Worth from her ranch in Montana.

Durant, 24, a native of Fitchburg, Mass., was educated in the schools of that city, after which he took up diesel engineering. During the war, he served at Sarasota, Fla., in the U. S. Coast Guard reserve.

This spring he joined the Ringling show at Madison Square Garden and met Miss Ringling when she came to the elephant and ring stock department, where she has performed.

Both declined to discuss the development of their romance, but Durant said, "I'm a very lucky fellow."

Miss Ringling's mother, Mrs. Haley, formerly was Mrs. Richard Ringling. Ringling died a number of years ago. He was the son of Alf T. Ringling, one of the show's founders.

Asked whether they intended to continue circus careers after they are married, they replied, smiling happily, "our plans are not made."

HALF-WAY MARK OF CAMPAIGN

Little Theatre To End Membership Drive In Another Week

The half-way mark was reached yesterday in the Little Theatre of Monroe membership drive, which opened last Monday when tickets went on sale. Total sales have been high, according to Kay Crandall, director, who predicted the biggest season in the history of the Little Theatre for the coming year.

An interesting and important aspect of Little Theatre was stressed yesterday by George Temple, of the New York Hardware and Furniture Company, when he stated his attitude toward Monroe's theatre, in a discussion of the movement. Mr. Temple said: "The Little Theatre is much more than merely an entertainment unit for Monroe. It is the one big opportunity in our city for the discovery and development of real talent for the stage. Monroe is so situated that we do not have many opportunities for our people to discover their own dramatic talent in nearby places, and those people, in whatever age bracket they may fall, who have such talent, have a right to expect an outlet in their own home town where that talent may be discovered and developed.

"If the Little Theatre discovers one real dramatic talent in ten years, and helps that person to success and fulfilment of his talent, the Little Theater has in that one act alone justified its existence, and made a fine and lasting contribution to its city. The chance for citizens of Monroe to try their talents at home, and to receive professional training and direction in exchange only for the willingness to work is a remarkable chance—these people receive actually a free dramatic education under the best possible circumstances, those of actual production, which is the method used by the finest dramatic schools in the country, in which high tuitions exclude a great number of potential talents.

"There are many aspects of the Little Theatre which make it an important phase of community life, but having myself seen the difficult struggle of so many talented young people to get the preliminary training and experience they need, I feel this one service alone is enough to make the Little Theatre an institution which every citizen should feel it an obligation to support through memberships, patron memberships, advertising and participation."

SOIL CONSERVER MEETING IS HELD

135 Farmers Attend Despite Hurricane Weather Conditions

WINNFIELD, La., Sept. 27.—(Special)—A group of one hundred thirty-five farmers, business and professional men attended the annual meeting of the board of supervisors of the Dugdemona Soil Conservation District in spite of the wind and rain brought about by the approaching hurricane on September 19. This meeting was held on Dr. J. R. McCartney's farm near Winnfield on the Tullos road. It was planned for an open air meeting under the shade of an oak grove but due to the weather the group gathered in Dr. McCartney's tractor shed. The program continued as planned with everyone maintaining high spirits and having a good time.

The meeting was called to order by C. W. Loe, chairman of the board of supervisors of this district, who briefly explained the purpose of the meeting and introduced Dr. J. R. McCartney who welcomed the group. His generosity was indicated not by words but by him making available his farm plant to all the visitors.

The program continued with John James, president of the Citizens Progressive Bank of Columbia, La., making an interesting address on the value of soil conservation. He recognized the need for a greater effort on the part of all people for this great and needed program. He said that it was the belief that the banks and banking institutions of this country would support in a greater way the program of soil conservation.

Rev. H. A. Johnson, pastor of the Simsboro Baptist Church, gave an address on the relation the soil has to the spiritual life of the people. He used as his subject a verse from the 24th Psalm, "The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof." The Rev. Johnson pointed out that the soil is not ours to do with as we see fit but a trust given us by God to be handed down from generation to generation in as good a shape as we received it.

Dr. H. D. Sheehee, dentist of Arcadia, who said that he had been practicing his profession in the same locality for thirty-eight years and based on his observation over this period that as the soil deteriorated and eroded so would people both physically and economically. He particularly pointed out that after practicing his profession on three generations in Bienville parish that the teeth of these people are getting progressively poorer and blamed this deterioration on the loss of minerals from our soils due to erosion. Dr. Sheehee, being an ardent enthusiast on the conservation of wildlife and a big believer in nature's way of living, believes that man needs to live closer to nature and to follow nature's way of maintaining and keeping the balance and vitality of the soil. By doing this the vitality of the people will be improved.

The forestry phase of the conservation program was summed up by F. E. Stabler, conservation engineer with the International Paper Company. Mr. Stabler's remarks concerned the need for more reforestation, better protection of our woodland and then the fullest use of its production by proper harvesting and selling.

Congressman A. Leonard Allen, of the Eighth Congressional District made a great inspirational talk and at the same time pledged his continued support to the soil conservation program. He said that soil conservation was his chief love of all agricultural programs and would like to see everyone interested in this great nation of ours make it their No. 1 job. All people regardless of what they are doing have a stake in the soil. Without soil, the top six or seven inches, the greatest agricultural nation the world has ever known, would be lost.

Nineteen farmers cooperating with the Dugdemona Soil Conservation District were awarded by receiving a certificate citing them for carrying out a complete soil conservation program. Paul Stinson, cashier of the Jackson Parish Bank, Jonesboro, La., presented these certificates for the Louisiana Bankers' Association as a recognition by this association for the job each farmer had done toward conserving the soil on his individual farm. Technicians of the United States Soil Conservation Service assisted all of these farmers in planning and establishing their program.

Throughout this program the monotony of speaking was broken when the chairman called on A. C. Banks and his quartette to sing. This quartette's singing was very much enjoyed.

Before closing the program and at the conclusion where everyone enjoyed a fish dinner, the following visitors were recognized by the chairman: H. B. Martin, state conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, Alexandria, La.; E. T. Powell, chairman, D'Arbonne Soil Conservation District, Marion, La.; J. O. Davis, secretary to the state soil conservation committee, Baton Rouge, La.; Dean J. G. Lee, dean, college of agriculture, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, La.; James Madden, president, Arcadia Bank, Arcadia, La.; I. C. Nunn, cashier, Citizens' Progressive Bank, Columbia, La.; Wesley Sentell, forester of Southern Advance Bag and Paper Company, Hodge, La.; Leon Mitchell, Jonesboro, La.; John Cockerham, Soil Conservation Service, Alexandria, La.; and R. Irby Didier, secretary, Louisiana Bankers' Association, Baton Rouge, La.

LABOR'S STATUS IN AREA GIVEN

245 Workers Placed On Jobs In August By LSES Office

The Louisiana State Employment Service, 230 South Grand Street, gives report of labor conditions stating that the employment level reported attained during the month of July in the Monroe area remained approximately the same for the month of August. This fact, it is shown, is not alarming and does not indicate that employment in the area has reached a leveling-off point.

Total non-agricultural employment in this area has been on a steady upward trend since May and indications are that this trend would have been continued had not fire caused a shutdown of one of our major industries. The number of workers forced from their jobs by this unforseen incident served to counterbalance the number of accessions reported for the month.

In step with the small employment gains reported, the Monroe L. S. E. S. office placed 245 workers on jobs during the month of August—a decrease of 31 as compared with the number placed in July. Job-seekers placed in wholesale and retail trade establishments represented 39 per cent of the total placed, while manufacturing represented 15 per cent, services (except domestic), 15 per cent, construction 6 per cent, and the remaining 25 per cent divided between mining, finance, insurance, real estate, domestic services and government. The placement of non-agricultural workers in August by the local office decreased in mining, construction, manufacturing, and domestic services. For the same period increases were shown in wholesale and retail trade, finance, insurance, real estate, services (except domestic), and government.

The inventory at the end of the period revealed that there were 1,743 active applications for work in the Ouachita parish files, of which 276 were female and 946 were veteran applicants. It is recognized that some of these applicants, even though classified in a particular occupational group, lack necessary job experience to enable them to meet job specifications required by many employers. Naturally, with this situation existing, certain job openings remained unfilled at the end of the month.

Mackenzie's Column

By DeWitt Mackenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The tragic Jewish-Arab problem in Palestine may find temporary easement, but little which will contribute to a useful solution, in Britain's announcement that she will end her mandate if the United Nations doesn't work out a settlement satisfactory to both sides.

There will be easement because the quarrel between British and Jews has grown increasingly bitter through the years until the presence of the mandate power in the Holy Land has become intolerable to the Jewish inhabitants. As things now stand it's better that the British clear out.

However, one of the world's most difficult questions will remain to be answered by the United Nations. That is how to fulfill Britain's Balfour declaration of 1917 by providing "a national home for the Jewish people * * * it being clearly understood that nothing shall be done which may prejudice the civil and religious rights of existing non-Jewish communities (the Arabs) in Palestine * * *."

In the generation which has elapsed since that pledge was given, the Holy Land has seen bloodshed and destruction develop out of the differences. The great goal has become a will-o'-the-wisp and many observers have come to believe that there is no way of reconciling the wishes of the Jews and the Arabs. Be that as it may, there is no sign that the lamentations against the ancient wailing wall of Jerusalem are about to cease.

In 1922 the British announced a plan for the establishment of a legislative council, but that was rejected by the Arabs. The proposal was put forward again in 1935 and was turned down by both Arabs and Jews.

At that time a general strike was declared by the higher Arab committee which demanded the creation of a national representative government, the stoppage of Jewish immigration and prohibition of the sale of land to the Jews. Naturally these demands were not complied with. There followed a period of Arab terrorism. Hundreds of Jews were killed and much damage was done to property.

Then in 1937 the British Peel Royal Commission, having spent seven months in Palestine reviewing the situation, recommended that separate Jewish and Arab states should be created. Britain would have a permanent mandate for Jerusalem, Bethlehem and Nazareth, with a corridor from Jerusalem to the coast.

This proposition was turned down by both Jews and Arabs. Disorders again swept the land. These have continued ever since with varying degrees of intensity—clashes between Jews and Arabs, and clashes between British and Jews.

Now a majority of the United Nations Palestine committee has recommended that the Holy Land be divided into two states, with Jerusalem—sacred city of Christianity, Judaism and Mohammedanism—a neutral district. Again the Arabs are expressing disapproval of the idea, while there seems to be a division of opinion among the Jews, some of whom are against it.

So the next step is up to the United Nations, and the problem is more complicated than ever. Not only is the whole Arab world supporting the Palestine Arabs in this issue, but the Holy Land is a highly strategic area of the Middle East in which not only Britain but Russia, France and America are deeply interested.

Good From An Ill Wind

The destruction of hundreds of Louisiana-Mississippi Gulf Coast commercial fishing craft in the recent hurricane was most regrettable, of course, as is any widespread property damage. The calamity came as a climax to the woes of the owners and crews who were experiencing a very unprofitable season and whose earnings and savings from former years of heavy financial returns and high pay already had dwindled. The many owners thus caught without funds to repair or replace their boats and the workers, faced with idleness, have everyone's sympathy.

But it has been said "It's an ill wind that blows no good," and it cannot be denied that diminishing of commercial fleets will have a revivifying effect on what once were the finest fishing grounds and most enjoyable vacation spots in the country. It seems almost as if Nature herself had taken a hand to correct greed-inspired abuses that the conservation departments of Louisiana and Mississippi had permitted to flourish unchecked.

If ever there has been anything overdone it has been commercial fishing during the past few years; particularly the pursuit of shrimp. Attracted by the high prices brought by this seafood—$40 to $50 a barrel according to size—Gulf dwellers and thousands from far inland this summer rushed to take up this employment. What few boats there were for sale brought many times their pre-war value and the cost of new bottoms was correspondingly high. The result—before the hurricane—had been disastrous for the shrimp, the game fish and sea life generally in the in-shore coastal waters, for the general welfare of the pleasure resorts and for the commercial fishermen themselves.

There is no authentic record of how many boats were engaged in shrimping. Operating out of Biloxi alone there were 1,700, according to an official there who said one-fourth of them were "gone" after the September 19 storm and 50 per cent of the remainder were "badly damaged."

With fleets of comparable size around all of the other many points on the coast where there were canning and packing plants there was a constant parade of boats back and forth from one to 15 miles off shore during every daylight hour. Their nets trapped every creature that came into their paths and the heavy board weights of the seines, dragging along the bottom, tore up and destroyed all forms of marine plant life on which shrimp, fish and other denizens of the deep feed. The ceaseless dragging muddied the water so that often it was unfit for bathing.

Along the Mississippi coast also there have been operating great fleets of boats engaged in netting for the fertilizer plants at Biloxi and Pascagoula. They are supposed to take only non-edible fish but residents of the two cities were quoted with saying the fishermen keep everything that falls into their trawls—game fish, shrimp, crabs, oysters and all—and deliver the entire catch to the plants where they are converted into fertilizer. Florida and some other Gulf states have outlawed such plants in the interest of conservation.

The shrimp schools quickly disappeared after the start of the present season this summer and they were so scarce just before the tornado that sport fishermen could not catch enough with their own small trawls to use for bait. Vacationists found too that where game fish in past years had been in abundance there were few or none at all. The conclusion was that the fish either had been cleaned out—illegally—by the nets or, their feeding grounds continually raked and muddied, they had moved out to deep water beyond the reach of the harassing trawls, as the shrimp schools apparently had done.

With none of the shrimp fishermen having made any money this season because of the vanishing of the schools, it is not probable that the storm-destroyed boats will be replaced or that the more seriously disabled ones will be repaired. Thus there now will be some measure of relief from the overdone seining of which vacationists and Gulf coast residents have complained. But should the shrimp come back in quantity, the chase after them would quickly regain its pre-hurricane intensity. Before that could happen, however, it seems to us that the proper authorities in Louisiana and Mississippi—and all Gulf states, for that matter—should take steps toward regulation and rigid inspection that would prevent the steady destruction of our sportsmen's and vacationists' paradise.

SHRUNKEN EXPORTS

There are some predictions that the dollar shortage abroad and agreements with England will combine to reduce U. S. exports. These have been running at the rate of approximately $20,000,000,000 a year and a sharp slump could be a blow to America's economy.

The other side is that exports decidedly have contributed to inflation by prolonging domestic competitive bidding for scarce articles. A temporary easing of shipments abroad would give industry an opportunity to overtake domestic demand.

The nation's $20,000,000,000 export rate per annum is artificial, swollen by loans and gifts. During the twenties loans floated here by foreign nations which were later repudiated contributed to a milder export boom. When it ended the most violent depression in American history ensued.

Ending of the artificial export volume at this early date might do much to avert a later crash caused by a sudden cessation of shipments abroad.

America needs export markets to keep its industrial machinery running. Exports paid for in goods or in money, that is. Giving them away is building up trouble for the future.

Totally lacking in subtleties, but I dareyuh—try to keep a straight face. . . . Columbia's "Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back" (Ron Randell-Gloria Henry-Pat O'Moore). An up-and-down series achieves an all-time high. . . . So-So: Monogram's "Code of the Saddle" (Johnny Mack Brown-Ray Hatton). Western melodrama, as trite in plot as it is in title.

That was quite a scene Joan Leslie created the other day when she refused to kiss James Craig in a sequence for their current picture. She announced that screen kisses are "phoney" and that she'll have no part of them in the future. Personally, I'm getting bored by Miss Leslie's frequent displays of temperament, if that's the term she prefers. Screen kisses don't smack half as phony as the publicity she strives for with her sensational outbursts.

Now it comes out that Margaret Truman's manager tried to prevent the recording of Miss Truman's Hollywood Bowl concert for broadcast to our armed forces overseas. When the White House heard about her obstructionism, things started popping. The manager backed down, and the recording was made without further ado. It would have been an outrage had a concert, good or bad, by the president's daughter, been denied to service men in far corners of the globe. Perhaps Miss Truman's manager, who seems to have a genius for antagonizing people needlessly, should take lessons in diplomacy while Miss Truman takes her singing lessons.

If anyone wants to charge that the Jane Withers-Bill Moss wedding was too ostentatious to be in perfect taste, I'll not argue, but it seems to me that the many self-appointed critics who are panning the Withers family for spending so much money at a time when most of the world is verying on starvation, are talking poor economics. It isn't the people who spend money lavishly, thereby keening it in circulation, who contribute to the hardships of their less fortunate neighbors. Jane's marriage (it makes me feel a bit ancient since it seems only yesterday that she was an unruly moppet) was a ten-strike for the hundreds of trades people who contributed to the show.

In one of the trade papers this morning, there's a typical Hollywood ad. Inserted by an employment agency handling office help, it reads: "Glamour Girls With Brains! We have a unique register of exceptionally beautiful young women available for placement as secretaries with top executives, writers and administrators!" Did the man who conceived that ad forget that trade papers are also read by Hollywood wives?

By Thurman Sensing

There is no more place for Communists within a democratic land than there is for boll weevils in a cotton patch. A free society including Communists can no more be healthy than a man with cancer. Their whole philosophy is directly contrary to all the principles of democracy. Under their creed, the individual is nothing more than chattel of the state; there is no such thing as a free man. It is absolute monarchy and dictatorship under another form—except more insidious. The whole effort of communists is centered on the overthrow of established government and its replacement with Communist government. In the United States, this means the overthrow of the American system of government under which we have lived and prospered since its founding some 160 years ago. It means the destruction of all the ideals and principles and traditions which we cherish and for which our fathers and sons have fought and died.

There is no place in our nation for those who would overthrow our system of government. It should be made clear, once and for all, that we have no room for Communists; to harbor them is simply to "warm snakes to our bosoms." That is why we must expose them; get rid of them; destroy them. That is why no real, sincere, patriotic American, whether government employe, union leader, or otherwise, should hesitate for one instant to sign an affidavit testifying that he holds no belief in Communism. That is why we cannot countenance organizations within our midst that allow Communist members—for instance, the Southern Conference of Human Welfare, which organization, its president lately stated, is not interested in whether or not its members are Communists. No wonder the responsible people of New Orleans, where this organization has its headquarters, asked its removal from the city. It had lately moved from Nashville, Tenn., where it had found no sympathy among the thinking people of the community. It is high time that such Communist front organizations found no resting place in any community of the South or of the nation.

This is not a question of tolerance—a much abused word, by the way. There can be no tolerance of evil, whatever its form. So far as our own government is concerned, there can be no tolerance for those who would deny the principles of individual freedom set forth in the Declaration of Independence, there can be no tolerance for those who would destroy the Constitution. We can tolerate those who would advocate changes within the framework of our democratic system of government, but we cannot tolerate those who would destroy the framework itself.

This conflict between democracy and communism, of course, has long since spread beyond the boundaries of our own country. The big question now is whether the two philosophies can live in the same world, much less in the same nation; and the immediate problem facing our nation is how far removed from us shall we erect the stone wall of democracy to prevent expansion of the iron curtain of communism. Since the end of the war, we have been holding this line in far places—splitting the middle of Korea, splitting the middle of Germany. We have made loans to France and Italy and Britain and other nations. We have lately attempted to establish the line along the boundaries of Greece and Turkey. The great debate will come very soon as to how extensively the resources of this nation shall be committed.

All signs now indicate that we cannot escape reaching the conclusion that we must oppose communism wherever it may be found, at home or abroad, with whatever means give promise of being most effective. The main problem is not whether we shall oppose communism but how we shall oppose communism. We must decide whether it can best be done by spreading our resources thin in many places or by remaining strong at home and setting a good example in our own country of the benefits to be derived from the democratic way of life. We must remember that democracy is not a commodity to be bought, that the love of freedom must first exist in the hearts of the people themselves. History belies the statement we often hear that democracy thrives only on plenty. Our own history proves that democracy has its greatest growth under struggle and hardship and toil. Let's at least use our resources where they will really count!

By PETER EDSON
(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — (NEA)—Application of Chesapeake and Ohio Railway's cocky Chairman Robert R. Young and its President Robert J. Bowman to sit on the New York Central's board of directors may be merely the opening round of a long fight to determine who will control U. S. railroad policy and what that policy is going to be. Involved also is the future of a long range Interstate Commerce Commission plan to merge eastern railroads into four major systems built around Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central, Pennsylvania and the Chesapeake and Ohio-Nickel Plate.

In the transportation act of 1920, this consolidation of United States railroads into a limited number of competing systems was declared national policy. In 1932 ICC came up with its big plan. In the depression years, however, the railroads were all so broke they couldn't even buy each other. So in the revised transportation act of 1940 the idea of a government merger plan was eliminated and it was left to the railroads to do their own merging.

A few switches have been thrown to connect some of the weaker roads with the main lines, as the ICC had originally planned. Pennsylvania now controls Norfolk and Western and Wabash. C. and O. merged Pere Marquette. B. and O. took over a couple. But by and large, consolidation was sidetracked during the war.

It was revived earlier this year by C. and O.'s buying 400,000 shares of New York Central for $7.5 million. This represents a six per cent interest in N. Y. C., and is the largest single holding.

This big C. and O. holding entitled this road to a couple of seats on the N. Y. C. board of directors. Young and Bowman were invited in.

But the I. C. C. has a policy that it will permit railroads to have interlocking directors only if it can be shown that the roads involved should eventually be part of the same system.

Therefore, if Young and Bowman are permitted to become N. Y. C. directors, it will mean that the I. C. C. is approving eventual merger of C. and O. and N. Y. C. That would mean abandonment of the four-system plan for a new three-system plan in the east.

It is Robert Young's contention that the 1932 consolidation plan died because of its own inherent weaknesses. Particularly, it was found that the C. and O.-Pere Marquette-Nickel Plate combination couldn't compete with N. Y. C. and Pennsylvania systems.

Young Has No Merger Plan

Young now contends that C. and O. and N. Y. C. are supplementary roads. C. and O. is primarily a coal road, originating much tonnage that can feed into N. Y. C. territory. Furthermore, he says that the merged C. and O.-N. Y. C. would be approximately equal in trackage, tonnage and employes with the Pennsylvania-Wabash-N. and W. system.

Young now has no plan to submit to the I. C. C. on merger of the two roads. If he is authorized to sit as a director of N. Y. C., however, he may be counted on to move in and try to take over control of the big road.

Thus far, the only open railroad opposition to Young's merger plan has come from the Virginian. This is principally a coal road feeding into Norfolk, Va. In the 1932 I. C. C. consolidation plan, Virginian was supposed to go in with New York Central. But it is now more closely tied with Pennsylvania interests.

Koppers company of Pittsburgh, a Mellon holding, owns two-thirds of the Virginian corporation stock. And Richard Mellon is a director of Pennsylvania railroad.

His Needling Is Healthful

With the New York Central under Young's control, he would be in a position to move against the American Association of Railroads, from which he recently withdrew to start a rival organization. A. A. R. is where U. S. railroad policy is made.

Young is openly despised by all other railroad executives. The feeling seems to be mutual. Young is constantly attacking the managements of other roads in full-page newspaper ads. His opponents pull no punches in answering him back.

Whether he wins or loses in his coming fights, his influence is all to the good in that it offers a healthful stimulus for the improvement and growth of our war-weary and depression-run-down railroads.

Our Children

NO HURRY

It is wise and right to use time respectfully and to good purpose, and teachers do well to impress those values on their pupils. But there never should be an atmosphere of hurry in a classroom. Hurry means confusion because there is not sufficient time allowed for thought. Children, being what they are, and in a state of learning, cannot afford to be pressed. That is what happens when teachers give untaught pupils speed tests.

By untaught I mean that the pupils have not had sufficient practice in the work to make the response automatic. And automatic it must be if children are to succeed in the speed test. When a pupil is not sure of the answer, when the recall is still slow in coming, no speed test should be given. Only when the pupil has had sufficient time to make the recall certain, swift and accurate as his own name, is there any excuse for the speed test.

When such tests are given a class that is still in the learning, acquiring stage, the results do not justify the proceeding at all. There will be only two or three children ready for it and the others will fail, become confused and then frightened, and lose the power to recall the facts they know. That makes them afraid of such tests, and fear kills growth.

There is no need for hurry nor for the feel of hurry in the class-room. Set the lessons carefully within the limits of the children's ability to master them in reasonable time. There will always be a few behind the others. If they need more teaching give it to them but put no pressure of speed upon them, lest they lose what they have gained. A good way to encourage promptness, timeliness is to allow each child, as he finishes a task, to take up another occupation quietly until the class has completed the work.

School time is expensive in time and money and effort, and none of it should be wasted. Most of the time should be given to teaching and putting into practice what has been learned. Did the class learn to spell five words? They should at once put them to good use. That good use is the real test of the teaching and learning.

Reading off a list of numbers, words or whatnot and holding a stop watch is not the sane quality of teaching and learning at all, and there is scant room for such practice. It takes the time of teachers, pupils and supervisors, and that time might better be spent in work more effective on pupils' growth.

Few children ever reach maturity without one or more annoying habits. To prevent such habits, Dr. Patri has written a booklet on the subject—No. 302, "Annoying Habits," obtainable by sending ten cents (coin preferred) and a three-cent stamp to him, care of News-Star—World, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Sunday School Lesson

Scripture: Hebrews 1:1-4; 2:1-3; 8:6-11

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

This lesson is the first of a three-month series based on the messages of the New Testament Epistles, other than those by Paul. In the King James, or "authoriezd" version of the Bible, the Epistle to the Hebrews is attributed to Paul, but from early days in the church there was much questioning regarding its authorship, and the American Standard Revised Version, and "The Bible: An American Translation," by Professors Smith and Goodspeed, along with Moffatt, Moulton, and other translations, follow the prevailing opinion of Biblical scholars in omitting Paul's name.

But one fact concerning the Pauline Epistles, the Epistles by James, Peter, and John, which Paul certainly did not write, and the Epistle to the Hebrews, is that they are all agreed in a common faith in Jesus as the Messiah, in belief in His saving power, in His resurrection and living presence through the Holy Spirit, and in their conception of the Christian fellowship and the nature of the Christian life.

This could be demonstrated in many parallels of actual expression, though each Epistle may have its particular emphasis. James, for instance, emphasizes works as the evidence of faith, where Paul puts the emphasis on faith, but in Paul's more extensive writings one would find many passages that, as strongly as James, stress the practical nature of the Christian life. So, also, though John is the apostle of brotherly love, all that he says only strengthens what Paul wrote of love in I Corinthians 13. And when Peter writes of believers as "partakers of the divine nature," it is precisely what Paul has written in Ephesians 3:19.

I stress this, because it is a matter about which there should be no misunderstanding, and about which, from my own study of the New Testament, I have strong convictions.

This unity is emphasized in the conception of God's better revelation in Jesus, as presented by the writer of Hebrews, and as presented by Paul. Both are intense in their conviction that Jesus was the fulfillment of the Messianic hope, and both write from the background of Judaism; but Paul is chiefly concerned with doctrine, while the writer of the Hebrews emphasizes the priestly character of Jesus, and the fulfillment of the ritualistic side of the Old Testament heritage.

Belief in Jesus as the Messiah, and the fulfillment of Jewish hopes and prophecies, is dominant in the Christian church; and it is at this point that the devout Christian and the devout Jew differ, though they have the Old Testament in common. The devout Jew may regard Jesus as a great teacher, a view now more widely held than formerly, but he looks still for the coming of the Messiah and the fulfillment of the prophecies.

It is a difference of belief that is not unimportant, but it should not in any sense be an occasion of intolerance or unbrotherliness. If the Jew lives up to all that is best in the Old Testament, and the Christian up to all that is best in the New, the spirit of both Testaments would make impossible the intolerance and prejudice that have led to so much suffering and tragedy. It is in ideals of peace and good will that Judaism and Christianity both find their highest expression.

Pitching Horseshoes
By Billy Rose

Last week I had a sign painter letter up a little placard which read, "Through these portals pass the most beautiful potato pancakes in the world." I figured I'd hand my Aunt Frieda a kick by tacking it up over her kitchen door.

Yesterday evening I put the sign and myself in a taxi and headed for the East Side where Aunt Frieda and my Uncle Charlie (the inventor) have been living since a candy apple on a stick cost a penny.

Billy Rose

As I climbed the three flights of their walk-up tenement, I kept sniffing for the fragrances of Aunt Frieda's cooking. I want to get the proper feeling of reverence in my nose. As I reached the third landing, my nostrils were assaulted by the smell of something burning—and it was like the funeral pyre of a pair of old gym socks.

I opened the door and saw the outline of my Uncle Charlie's figure through yellowish smoke. He was puffing on a pipe. "What are you burning in there?" I choked. "A death certificate?"

In front of Uncle Charlie on the parlor table was a little brownish mound of tobacco. Charlie looked up at me with the eyes of a man who had been fighting a forest fire.

"I am experimenting with science," he announced, and blew a cloud of smoke in my face.

I coughed, grabbed the back of a chair and hung on. "That kind of warfare was outlawed by the Geneva convention," I yelped. "What's this all about?"

"I am rich," said Uncle Charlie. "From my new invention I will make a million."

"From his new invention," hollered Aunt Frieda from the kitchen, "He will break the lease yet. The neighbors are complaining we are keeping in here a goat."

I opened the windows. "Begin at the beginning," I said.

"Two weeks ago," said Charlie, "the candy store is raising the price of my favorite brand smoking tobacco five cents. To help the president bring down high prices, I am resolving to buy various kinds tobacco and mix up my own mixture. I buy, I mix."

"And?" I asked, like an old vaudeville straight man.

"The first mixture is very interesting," said my uncle, "but lacks a little sweetness. So I am adding for ten cents maple syrup. This makes the mixture too wet. So I am adding a little cornstarch for body."

"Also," piped up Aunt Frieda, "cooking chocolate, holiday wine, chopped-up zweiback and petals from the geranium plant."

"A woman's exaggeration," said Charlie. "Chocolate I never used."

"If your mixture didn't taste good," I offered, "why didn't you throw it away?"

"You must think I'm nutsy-dopey-crazy," said the inventor. "The mixture is already representing an investment of over a dollar. To protect my original investment, I must keep adding. And lucky I did, because from this is coming a great discovery."

"A tobacco that cures people of smoking?" I suggested.

"A much greater invention," said my uncle. "Better than DDT. One day, I'm noticing a strange thing. In the kitchen is flies. In the bedroom is flies. But in the parlor, where I am mixing, is no flies! I realize I am discovering an insecticide."

"Genius," said Frieda, "spelled backwards—jackass. The flies is naturally coming to the other rooms because they can't breathe good in the parlor."

"What's the difference why they go?" said Charlie. "The thing is—they go. I am labelling my preparation Bye-Bye Fly—the Humane Insecticide."

At this moment Uncle Charlie slapped himself on the neck.

"Wasn't that a fly?" I said. "I thought you told me your mixture chased them all away?"

"My mixture did," said Charlie, "but this isn't exactly my mixture. Yesterday while I am over at the coffee house, your Aunt Frieda threw my invention out with the garbage. A million dollars is somewhere in the barrels."

"Why don't you duplicate the original mixture?" I asked.

"The genius forgot what he put in it," said my Aunt Frieda.

Uncle Charlie sighed. "Again I must begin experimenting with science. But in this house an inventor gets no respect."

"Respect—no," said Aunt Frieda, coming out of the kitchen with a big platter. "Sauerbrauten—yes. Eat, eat, eat."

NEW STRESS

of troops to combat guerrillas and ought to "get a move on."

5. Senators Russell (D.-Ga.) and McClellan (D-Ark.) proposed in interviews that congressional leaders make a "gentleman's agreement" to permit use of idle funds of government agencies for stop-gap assistance to Europe. They said that would get around a special session of congress.

6. Flanders also told reporters grain exchanges should be allowed to try their own methods of checking speculation. He said grain leaders had offered to raise down payments required on sales of grain for future delivery "from this point on, at a rate of 50 per cent on any increase." Agriculture department officials had asked for doubling of present cash requirements on futures sales.

7. Chairman Hope (R.-Kan.) of the House agriculture committee said congress would investigate government buying of grain for export, as suggested by leading grain exchanges, if the latter "will submit to us information justifying it." (Government purchases of flour for export were credited partly for the increase in grain prices in Chicago today.)

8. Like the cabinet food committee, a presidential committee studying American resources for helping Europe said "voluntary self-rationing on the part of consumers" is "the most effective weapon" that can be used to curb soaring grain and food prices.

This committee, headed by Secretary of Commerce Harriman, submitted its report to the president before he announced his "waste less" food program on Thursday. It was made public for the first time today.

It also suggested that the government "keep the pressure" on the grain exchanges for higher down payments for dealing in futures.

The 50,000 report from the Paris conference was Volume One. A second volume, including statements from technical committees of the conference, will come along later.

The general report points to the American continent as the fountain from which most of the $22,400,000,000 of outside help must flow to restore Europe to economic health. The U. S. has promised a careful study of the request.

After outlining proposed measures of self-help, which Secretary of State Marshall has said are essential if the United States is to lend assistance, the report says outside assistance should not be needed after 1951 if there are "reasonable favorable external conditions."

But the end of the aid program by then was said to be based on vital and uncertain assumptions:

That American prices will not mount materially over the levels of July, 1947.

That normal pre-war trade will be restored between Western Europe and the granary of Eastern Europe now under Soviet domination. The report said "it was reasonable to expect that the westward flow of food and agricultural and forestry products will gradually be resumed"—regardless of Europe's post war split along the "iron curtain."

That there will be a steady increase in European exports to the United States from $850,000,000 in 1948 to $1,480,000,000 in 1951, and a corresponding gain in sales to the rest of the American continent from $1,310,000,000 to $2,450,000,000.

Packard First With Complete 1948 Line

Packard has just become the first in the automobile industry to put into production a complete and all-new line of 1948 cars.

"Free flow" styled, a fresh approach in automotive design with no bumps or protrusions, these three 1948 Packard Eights are powered by the industry's first brand-new engines to be developed since the war.

Built in 17 different body types mounted respectively on four new chassis, they have no rear fenders. The bodies extend in simple sweep over the rear wheels.

George T. Christopher, Packard president and general manager, said the shift to 1948 models was made "without losing even one day's production, an industry precedent."

FORD

Motor Company in the estate at the time of Edsel's death.

Mrs. Ford originally returned the shares for taxes at a value of $58 each, or $70,366,760 in all, but when the government counter-claimed they were worth $190 each or $230,511,800 altogether, she changed her valuation to $40 a share or $48,528,800.

Tax court records did not disclose the settlement valuation of the stock, nor would revenue bureau officials tell it.

The fact that the government agreed to some in-between value will go far toward clearing out a like obstacle to settling taxes on the estate of Henry Ford, who died April 7, 1947, leaving large holdings of Ford Motor Company stock himself.

Both of the Fords left their Class "A" (non-voting) stock to the Ford Foundation, a charitable institution they set up, but left their Class "B" (voting rights) stock to family members.

The Revenue Bureau early in its collection moves set a value of $254,361,503.86 on Edsel's gross estate and put the net value at $198,313,550.61, allowing a reduction of $104,339,024.65 for charitable bequests.

Its net estate listing showed $160,151,162.90 in stocks and bonds, and only $2,500 in real estate.

The Revenue Bureau claimed originally that Edsel had $400,000 worth of personal property at his residence in Grosse Pointe, Mich., while Mrs. Ford's valuation was $325,000.

Further property was situated at other Ford residences in Haven Hill, Mich.; Seal Harbor, Me., and Hobe Sound, Fla.

Among the personal property items were antique rugs and paintings by old masters, the most valuable of the latter being Holbein's "Portrait of a Woman."

The $40,000 valuation put on that by Mrs. Ford was upped to $50,000 by the Revenue Bureau, but in a few cases the Bureau allowed a lower valuation than Mrs. Ford returned for taxes.

In one of these cases, it reduced to $7,500 the $10,000 value put by Mrs. Ford on Raeburn's "Mrs. Irvine Boswell".

FOOD

derous wholesale price index of the bureau of labor statistics hit a new postwar peak during the week ended Sept. 20. However, the index did not take into account some price declines late in that week.

A comparison of prices Friday with the peaks reached earlier this month in the Chicago exchanges and wholesale markets showed:

Wheat futures down 14 3/4 to 22 3/4 cents a bushel; corn down 24 3/4 to 28 1/2 cents; oats down 14 1/4 to 16 1/8 cents. In Chicago cash grains, No. 2 hard wheat was 15 1/2 cents lower (20 1/2 under the peak of last March); No. 2 yellow corn down 30 cents and No. 2 white oats down 16 cents.

Wholesale beef prices down $1.00 to $3.00 a hundred pounds, pork loins down $2.00 to $8.00; spring lambs down $5.00 to $7.00 and veal $1.00 lower to $1.00 higher.

At 76.5 cents a pound, grade AA butter was nine cents lower wholesale than the peak on Sept. 10 with grade A butter off 0 cents. Large extras wholesale eggs were 7 to 8.5 cents a dozen lower at 56 to 57.5 cents and medium extras four cents lower at 50 to 51 cents.

In the meat picture, however, the drop in livestock prices did not keep pace with the wholesale price decline. On Friday, the top steer price was $35.35 compared with $35.75, the 1947 peak reached on Sept. 16. Good to choice steers Friday sold from $26.00-$35.00, compared with $26.50-$35.50 on Sept. 16. Choice hogs yesterday brought $28.25 compared with an all time high of $30.50 on Sept. 11, while choice spring lamb Friday was $22.50, compared with a September high of $26.00.

"I would very much appreciate it," she said, "if the delegate from the Ukraine will furnish me with the names of the agents or the organizations engaged in such a program."

In his general condemnation of of American aid, Gromyko said he had been advised that the U. S. soon would have 18,000 military instructors in Greece.

The committee adjourned until Monday when discussions on the American and Russian proposals are expected to begin.

Like his resolution, Gromyko's speech was virtually a carbon copy of all the accusations he hurled against the United States, Britain and Greece in lengthy council debates.

Gromyko again declared that "foreign interference" was the cause of the current Greek situation. He said Greek political leaders now in power have "more farflung plans" and are awaiting "a conflict between Russia and the United States."

"The regime is hatching plans for a new war," Gromyko said. Constantin Tsaldaris, deputy Greek prime minister and foreign minister, sat only a few feet from the Russian delegate as he spoke.

"It is obvious," Gromyko added, "that the United States has no intention whatever to settle the Greek question properly. The United States had found it fit to pursue its own aims in Greece."

rorist-related acts such as pasting up posters. Admittedly these patrols sometimes resorted to strong methods of interrogation to ferret out facts about higherups in the organizations.

Farran was leading such a patrol on the night when Rubowitz was reported to have been putting up posters in the fashionable Rehavia district of Jerusalem. It was about 10:30 p. m. when a small black car swerved to the curb and three men jumped out. Eyewitnesses said the three, who were armed, grabbed Rubowitz, who struggled briefly, and then drove off with him. Eyewitnesses said the three men spoke English and were dressed in civilian clothes.

Investigators said afterward that they had found a cap near the spot and in the sweatband was the word "Farran".

Rubowitz has not been seen or heard from since. Weeks later police officially notified the bearded pharmacist father that his son was "presumed dead."

Farran, too, disappeared but for a few days only. One night he slipped through the mess hall window and fled. Two officers were dismissed because of the flight and a dozen others were severely reprimanded.

Farran was free for 10 days—No one admits to knowledge where he stayed—and then voluntarily returned to custody on June 19, the night after Stern gang members shot three British soldiers in the back shouting "that's for Farran."

The charges against Farran have been as nebulous as the handling of the whole investigation until it was officially announced last week that he would be tried "for the murder of Alexander Rubowitz."

A five-man military court will hear the case probably beginning Wednesday.

Now, grandma, isn't it possible somehow you could get into a similar category and all would be well.

Since the annual membership campaign of the Little Theatre is now in progress, with memberships on sale at the Palace and at Goldsmith's it is of interest to Monroe to review the list of those who have been at the helm of the Little Theatre, as board president, during the 15 years of the organization's existence. The Little Theatre is now piloted by Joe Kern, serving his second term as president, and was originally guided by Mrs. Elmer Richards, its first president.

She was succeeded by Rabbi F. K. Hirsch, Henry Biedenharn, Judge W. M. Harper, Tom Davenport, Fred Fudickar, Jr., Stanley Reid, Tom Serwich, and Everett Lawson who preceeded Mr. Kern. This variety of names proves the widespread reach and influence of the Little Theatre, which has been a vital force in Monroe community and entertainment life for so many years.

CAPT. BUSBY

department and his first assignment was at the intersection of DeSiard and Grand streets. At that and other busy downtown corners he directed traffic "by hand" for several years before the present signal lights were installed. Next he became a night patrolman, then was shifted to day duty and was one of the first motor patrolmen in the traffic division.

In 1936 he was appointed secretary to the then Chief of Police C. R. Tidwell, now commissioner of streets and parks, and after a year in that post was promoted to sergeant, April 5, 1937, and put in charge of traffic. For the succeeding eight years he handled this vital and increasingly serious municipal problem until on April 3, 1945, he was again promoted and was made a captain in the criminal division.

Capt. Busby has been keenly interested in public safety during all his years as a peace officer. While he was head of traffic he conducted safety campaigns in the city schools, both white and colored, and built up the Junior Police units that continue to provide protection for pupils crossing streets in the vicinity of school buildings. His efforts were so successful that he was invited to numerous other cities and towns in this area to advise in setting up safety programs for their schools.

Public safety has been his topic in many talks before civic clubs here and elsewhere and in frequent radio appearances. He was for several years chairman of the health and safety committee of the Boy Scouts of this district and worked out the safety programs of that organization, showing films and lecturing before all of the troops.

When Selman field was established early in the war his advice was sought and obtained by army officials in laying out the street system there and in developing the facility's traffic regulations.

During his more than a score of years as an officer, Capt. Busby played a prominent part in the largest cases handled by the department. One of his notable achievements was the breaking up of a widespread counterfeiting ring and the arrest of three of its leaders. Among his prized possessions are three certificates of excellence in small-arms marksmanship, bestowed upon him by the U. S. Coast Guard which conducted schools of instruction for federal officers here during the war.

Capt. Busby has devoted much time to civic affairs generally and has actively supported every movement for the advancement of the community. He is a member of the First Baptist Church of Monroe and is energetic in church and Sunday school work. He is one of the oldest members of the Young Business Men's Bible class. His lodge affiliations are with the Knights of Pythias and the Dokeys.

Capt. and Mrs. Busby, the former Lumora Kirkland, also a native of Caldwell parish, have one son, James M. Busby, Jr., who served three years with the marine corps during the late war, 28 months on overseas duty, and who was wounded in the invasion of Iwo Jima island. The family will continue to reside here, the captain said, but otherwise his plans for the future are indefinite.

Speaking as fellow officers, and not as brothers, yesterday on the retiring officer's last active day as a member of the police department, Chief and Captain Busby exchanged felicitations. Capt. Busby said his 21 years on the force had been most agreeable and enjoyable work and he attributed his success to the cooperation of the general public and of his fellow officers, with whom, he said, his relations always had been most pleasant. The chief expressed the regret of the entire department at the retirement of a valued and capable member.

Announcement of the appointment of a new captain and other changes in the police department, the chief said, will be made October 1.

What officers who have worked with and under him think of Capt. Busby was expressed in a statement issued over their signatures. It read:

"We have enjoyed working under the supervision of Capt. James M. Busby and have found him to be a very capable and qualified officer who performed his duties in a straightforward and unselfish manner. We regret to see him leave the department and wish him the greatest of success and happiness in all his future undertakings." It was signed by H. J. McMurry, Jack Davis, H. R. Wall, C. W. Hand, J. E. McMullen, G. P. Pendarvis, H. V. Brown, S. G. Martin, L. P. Smith, Jack Oglesbee, L. C. Taylor, W. J. Hunnicutt, W. H. Lockett, H. B. Johnson, J. F. Kirby, W. A. Corbin, John B. Whitfield, R. F. Parker, J. C. Bryan, Hunter F. May, H. L. Tolbert, Wm. Booth, L. G. Parker, R. L. Jordan and W. L. Sievers.

bolt a ride, and the others jumped him from behind bushes where they had hidden.

Judge Fields said, in passing sentence on the youngest of the defendants:

"The proof shows you not only assisted in the armed robbery as charged in the indictment, but that you procured the weapon used in accomplishing the robbery.

"It also shows that you and one other of the defendants proposed and wanted to kill the victim of the robbery and were prevented from doing so by the persuasion of the third defendant."

Commonwealth's Attorney J. A. Runyon quoted Casebolt as saying he committed the crime because he wanted to leave home and needed money. He had stolen the pistol from his parents.

Casebolt had no previous criminal record.

The sentence was the minimum possible under conviction for armed robbery in Kentucky.

Advertising is the Spark Plug of Business,
And Good Business is What Makes Good, Steady Work!

WHEN you read the advertising in this issue—wherever you read or hear advertising—remember this:

Advertising's job is to sell goods. Poor sales mean pay cuts, layoffs, fear and worry all through the family. Good sales mean steady work, pay increases, promotions, peace of mind for all.

For when advertising sells goods, there's just naturally more work to be done. In the factory that makes the goods. In the mines and on the farms that produce the raw materials. In the transportation lines, stores and businesses that handle the goods. Yes, and in the banks, insurance companies, machinery houses, real estate firms, builders, etc., that service that factory. It's a never-ending chain.

So be grateful for advertising for bringing you fine products at good values. But most of all—thank advertising for making your job more secure.

TWO TITLE BOUTS ON TUESDAY MAT CARD AT KALLIO'S

Curtis Risks World's Crown Against Rodriguez; Craig Vs. Omar

Jack Curtis, world's light heavyweight wrestling champion, and George Craig, Louisiana light-heavy titlist, put their crowns on the line here Tuesday night in a double main event program at Gus Kallio's Arena.

It will be the first time in the history of wrestling here that two championship belts have been offered on the same program, and Promoter Kallio said he was making arrangements to handle a crowd of near the same size as the record breaker that turned out last week for the women's show featuring Violet Vann and Evelyn Wall.

Curtis, long ruler for the world's heavyweights, will risk his belt against the challenge of Carlos Rodriguez, the very same Mexican bruiser who was snubbed a week ago by Craig in a challenge for the Louisiana crown.

Craig, who passed up Rodriguez last week when the latter failed to post a forfeit, will put his title on the line against the challenge of Prince Omar of Persia, a newcomer to the southern wrestling circuit.

"It took lots of talking on the telephone to arrange the Curtis-Rodriguez match," Promoter Kallio said last night. Curtis had demanded a $100 forfeit before agreeing to the meeting.

"I know he was money hungry," declared Rodriguez as he agreed to the forfeit. "He likes to wrestle with the easy boys and skin 'em out of their money. He has been lucky so far as he has been getting by with it, but his time is coming soon. I am just about the man to fix him up, too. I know some matches where he got all the money, and his opponents didn't draw a cent, but it won't be long before he'll be making some trips for nothing, and they won't be pleasure trips.

"I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll wrestle him 40-60 and give him $50 out of my end of the gate, but if he don't let me have a chance for that, then I have some other way to force him into a match. If he wants ti, I'll give him the $50 in the ring before the match starts just to let him be sure he'll get it. But he's going to get something else at the same time he's not expecting."

Rodriguez had originally issued the challenge to the champ, but Curtis had declared, "That man don't know what wrestling rules are. I don't want a title bout with a man like that but will take him on for a $100 forfeit and his promise that he will wrestle by the rules."

However, in the final analysis, Curtis accepted Rodriguez's own terms of $50 in advance, probably figuring the Mexican's boasts were worthy of his attention.

Prince Omar, lined up against Craig, the Tulsa toughie, is new to this part of the country, but he is well known to mat fans of the east and northwest where he has been doing most of his campaigning in this country.

Omar has a reputation, if you believe his press notices, of going out from the very start in an effort to stop his foes as quickly as possible, and so far he has been doing just about that. He does his warming up before entering the ring, and business begins the minute he steps through the ropes.

It is claimed that Prince Omar wins most of his matches in a hurry and there are no long, drawn out falls where he is concerned. He claims a record of having won over an opponent in Toledo, Ohio, in a total of eight minutes, and if Omar's record in ungauge of the Persian's ability then Craig will have to be on his toes all the way Tuesday night.

BIDS FOR TITLE

FERRIDAY WHIPS PELICAN ELEVEN

Bulldogs' Early Display Of Power Too Much As L. T. I. Loses, 27-7

FERRIDAY, La., Sept. 27.—(Special)—The Bulldogs of Ferriday High School won out over a fighting team of Louisiana Training Institute Pelicans from Monroe, here last night to the tune of 27-7, although the game was even harder fought than the score indicates. With touchdowns by E. W. Horton, Alvil Stuart, Charles Massy, and J. P. Lancaster, and also three perfect extra point kicks by the latter, the Bulldogs defeated a lighter team that could not get its offense to rolling in the first half, but rallied to play the Ferriday team on even terms in the final half. Ferriday held a 20-0 half-time lead.

L. T. I. played the game minus the services of U. L. Skipper, regular fullback, due to his injured leg. Another hard blow was suffered by them early in the first quarter when Billy Lott, center, and one of the Pel's only two lettermen, was forced to leave the game with a sprained ankle. The L. T. I. defense was somewhat demoralized the first half, but looked good the second stanza. Th Pelicans drove down the field on a sustained drive to score in the third quarter. Troquille drove over from the ten to score, and Fisette added the point on a line buck.

The Bulldogs snapped back to score after a mid-field struggle, when J. P. Lancaster, offensive leader of his team all night, got away on a 22-yard dash to pay dirt, after he and Latham had worked the ball down field.

Outstanding men defensively for Ferriday were Horton, who ran a partially blocked kick back for a touchdown to start the scoring, and Hart, Chauvin, and Traxler. Probably the most brilliant game of the night defensively was played by Doyle Miller, L. T. I. guard, who along with Dunn at tackle, made the largest percentages of Pelican tackles. Miller was in the Bulldogs' backfield time after time.

The lineups:

Ferriday	Pos.	L. T. I.
Horton	LE	Mitchell
Wheat	LT	Peelman
D. Hart	LG	Miller
Chauvin	C	Lott
Traxler	RG	Clark
Thompson	RT	Dunn

ARMED OUTRUNS ASSAULT TO WIN SPECIAL MATCH

Golden Gelding Triumphs By Six Lengths; Bewitch Disqualified

By Sid Feder

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The golden gelding from the blue grass, high-speed Armed, cakewalked home by six lengths over the Texas terror, Assault, in their long-ballyhooed match race today—and the victory wasn't over any poor old crippled colt such as Assault had been pictured.

The clubfoot comet from the wide open spaces was about as crippled and lame as Jesse Owen was in the 1936 Olympics, which is not crippled and lame at all. Every step he took around Belmont Park's racing strip, was a sound one—but he just wasn't enough horse against the front-running darling of the blue grass who led from end to end and rolled home as he pleased in this mile-and-a-quarter meander which just about decided the Handicap championship of the year.

Doug Dobson, the hard-faced little Idaho booter, might just as well have left his whip home as he steered the sturdy son of Bull Lea right up to the paying teller's window where he picked up $100,000—the biggest bankroll ever hung out for a match race in turf history.

As a matter of fact, it would have been better had Doug forgotten to bring his bat along, because, as he walked Armed into the starting gate, he whacked the Kentucky cannonball once on his flank, and the end of the whip apparently made a slight cut in Armed's skin. He was bleeding from it as he walked back to the winner's circle for the cup presentation by Osvaldo Anacha, Brazilian delegate to the United Nations, but not enough for either of the training Jones boys—Ben and Jimmy—to get excited about.

As a matter of fact, there was more talk about what happened to Armed's sensational stablemate, husky little Bewitch, who had never been beaten, up to today, in the eight races of her career.

She'd have shattered Top Flight's $219,000 one-year money-winning record for a two-year-old filly if she had ambled home first in the Matron Stakes today, taking the $36,050 winner's paycheck. The 31,573 customers who jammed this Long Island layout made her 7 to 20 in the betting to do it, apparently trying to "get even" with the mutuels because there was no betting at all on the A-boys in the big race.

Well, she finished first by a nose over Inheritance, Mrs. Isabell Dodge Sloane's $25,000 yearling buy, but after her number was put up the judges disqualified her for what they said was "repeatedly bumping Ghost Run," who finished fourth and moved up to third through the disqualification, behind Inheritance and Vaudeville. Ghost Run, after challenging for the early lead, was dropping back by the time the bumping occurred.

On top of the disqualification, the judges suspended Jockey Dobson for 10 days, but it didn't make Doug feel too badly, because he came right back to bounce home in the big one aboard Armed.

'SUBWAY SERIES' SET FOR TUESDAY OPENING

YANKS, DODGERS POISED FOR RICH TITLE SCRAMBLE

DiMaggio And Company Installed As 2 To 1 Favorites To Win

By Jack Hand

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The subway World Series returns Tuesday after a six-year lapse when the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers open their best of seven scrambles for probably the richest player pot in history at the Yankee Stadium.

Despite the Dodgers' conquest of the mighty St. Louis Cardinals who upset the Boston Red Sox last October, the Yankees go into the opener as early 2 to 1 favorites partly on the basis of 26 American League wins to 17 by the National since 1903.

Unless there is a four-game sweep, another $1,000,000 series is in the making, probably topping all previous marks.

President Larry MacPhail of the Yankees believes the stadium will gross "about $300,000" per game. If that happens, the player pool should appropriate $600,000 for the first four games with winning cuts approximating $7,000.

On the ball field it figures to be a contest between Brooklyn's base path speed and opportunist baseball against the heavy guns of the Yankee's home run attack, backed by superior pitching. It will be the 15th series for the Yanks who have copped 10 and the fourth for the Brooks who haven't won yet.

For Burt Shotton, who was named as a stop-gap Dodger boss when Commissioner A. B. Chandler suspended Leo Durocher in April, it will be a first series after a number of minor league managerships and scouting jobs, punctuated by a stretch as pilot of the Phillies in the futile era of 1928-33.

Bucky Harris, the greying "boy wonder" who never has repeated his early successes in Washington in 1924 will be in the opposing dugout.

Only five members of the 1941 Dodgers, whose loss to the Yanks will never be forgotten because of the memorable dropped third strike by Mickey Owen, have survived. They are utility Infielder Cookie Lavagetto, Outfielders Pete Reiser and Dixie Walker, Shortstop Pee Wee Reese and relief Pitcher Hugh Casey who threw the "fatal" strike to Tommy Henrich six years ago.

Six Yankees who helped polish off the Brooks, four games to one, six years back still are around. Joe DiMaggio, still the king pin of the ball club and perhaps the best player in the game, Tommy Henrich and Charley Keller remain from the regular outfield although Keller, out since mid-season after a back operation, will not play. Phil Rizzuto, then finishing his second big league season, still plays shortstop and Frankie Crossetti, now a coach, was on the player list.

The Dodgers present the first Negro to play modern big league ball in First Baseman Jackie Robinson. Experienced baseball men credit Robinson with much of the Dodgers' success. Filling a gaping hole, the former U. C. L. A. football star has hit around the .350 mark, led the league in stolen bases and developed into a creditable first baseman although he never played there before this spring.

Eddie Stanky and Pee Wee Reese at second base and shortstop give the Dodgers a steady double play combination and Spider Jorgensen, a rookie, has been one of the outstanding third basemen in his freshman year.

With Walker a fixture in right field, Shotton has shunted his other outfielders in and out of the lineup according to hunches and injuries. If he's fit, Reiser always plays, sometimes in center sometimes in left. Carl Furillo plays center against lefthanders but is not expected to see heavy series duty because Bullpen Joe Page is the Yanks' only southpaw. Gene Hermanski probably will play left and possibly Arky Vaughan, a converted infielder.

Bruce Edwards does all the Dodger catching of the staff headed by Ralph Branca, their only 20-game winner, lefthanders Vic Lombardi and Joe Hatten and Hal Gregg, a late season help after a disappointing start. Harry Taylor, trying to work out a sore arm, also is a factor as is the bullpen crew of Hugh Casey, Hank Behrman, Clyde King and Rex Barney.

Yankee outfield power with Johnny Lindell in left, capably taking the place of Keller, DiMaggio in center and Henrich in right overshadows the Dodgers' outer trio. George McQuinn, the comeback story of the year after his unconditional release last winter by the Philadelphia A's, has made a big difference at first base. George Stirnweiss at second and Phil Rizzuto at short match the Dodger combination and Bill Johnson, a series hero in 1943 against the Cards, is a steady long ball hitter at third base. Rookie Yogi Berra is the Yanks' first string catcher and probably will do most of the work.

Late September revivals by Frank Shea and Allie Reynolds, both of whom were troubled by sore arms in August, has boosted the Yankee pitching prospects from "gloomy" to "rosy." Add to that a fine job by Floyd (Bill) Bevens and repeated consistent work by Bobo Newsom and the Yanks are all set. Behind Page in the bullpen are Frank Drews, Randy Gumpert, Don Johnson, Charley Wensloff and Vic Raschi with sore-armed Spud Chandler an intriguing possibility.

LENGTHY RACES

The Blackfoot Indians of a few generations ago ran foot races several hundred miles in length, without stopping. A favorite run was from what is now Gleichen, Alberta, to Medicine Hat and back, a distance of about 240 miles.

SPY SONG WILL RUN AT ORLEANS

Dixiana Stables Also Entering Star Reward In Fair Grounds Races

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 27.—(Special)—Spy Song, the Dixiana Stable's extraordinary speedster, which has ruled the midwest sprinters for three straight years, will be among the sixteen thoroughbreds which Trainer Jack Hodgins plans to campaign at New Orleans' historic Fair Grounds this winter.

Hodgins is also shipping his derby ace, Star Reward, to the Crescent City in the hope of annexing his share of the $1,000,000 in purse money offered during the Diamond Jubilee meeting.

First Whirl, the Whirlaway colt which won its first out at Washington Park in August, and Model King, another winning first starter at the Chicago meeting, are also to be in the Dixiana contingent.

Other racers coming to New Orleans under Hodgins care will be Back Talk, Provident, Top Notch, Shy Guy, Santa Fe, Safety First, Moon Blue, Galloway, First Wind, Four Winds, Chapel Bells, Big Casino and Angelus Bell.

Steve Brooks, now leading jockey on the American turf, will accompany the Dixiana troupe to New Orleans.

Another $10,000 handicap, the Diamond Jubilee, has been added to the Fair Grounds program, date and conditions of the event to be announced by Racing Secretary Larry Bogenschutz later.

In addition, the annual Thanksgiving Handicap, opening day feature, has been increased in value from $3,500 to $5,000. Other increases have brought the Crescent City Handicap on November 29 from $2,500 to $5,000, and the Baton Rouge Handicap on December 6 from $2,500 to $5,000.

Work of spraying all Fair Grounds stables and other buildings with DDT is again under way under the direction of Track Superintendent Roy Dickerson.

This practice in effect during the past two years has practically eliminated the incidence of disease due to flies, mosquitoes and other vermin at the New Orleans track.

DEMONS ORGANIZE SWIMMING TEAM

NATCHITOCHES, La., Sept. 27.—(Special)—Swimming was added to the intercollegiate sports program at Northwestern State College Friday when the athletic committee of the institution announced it had adopted the sport for varsity competition.

The Demons formed a swimming team during the spring semester of the 1946-47 term and it competed in a meet with Centenary and at the A. A. U. Junior and Senior championships. Emblems are to be awarded squad members of that team who met varsity requirements successfully.

Guy W. Nesom, head of the department of health and physical education, will coach the swimming and diving team. Nesom is a former Louisiana State University athlete.

EAST TEXAS STATE BEATS NORTHWESTERN DEMONS

NATCHITOCHES, La., Sept. 27.—(AP)—The East Texas State Teachers of Commerce handed Northwestern State College a 27 to 0 defeat in Northwestern's opening home football game of the season here last night.

The Texans scored once each in the first and second quarters and twice in the final period.

The Texans scored in the late part of the first period when Hawkins, halfback, skirted right end for nine yards. The kick was wide. A second marker came in the second period on a pass from Bachelor, fullback, to Griffin, halfback, for 26 yards. Wilkinson, halfback, kicked the conversion.

Bachelor made the third tally over right guard from the one foot line and Griffin booted the extra point.

The last marker came late in the fourth period on a pass from Bachelor to Hurst, quarterback, for 26 yards. Griffin made good the extra point.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Tulane's light, sophomore-rich Green Wave negotiated three long-distance scoring plays here today to upset Alabama's big Crimson Tide, 21 to 20, before an estimated 60,000 spectators.

It was Alabama's first one-point defeat since the Tide lost 5 to 4 to the Birmingham Athlete Club in the first football game it ever played, back in 1892.

Tulane stopped Harry Gilmer's famous passes, intercepting three of them, one for a touchdown. Tulane's other two scores—which came in the last 53 seconds of the first half—were on Ed Price's 101-yard kickoff return and a 38-yard pass play from Bennie Ellender to Ray Prats.

Alabama's big line almost succeeded where Gilmer's overheads failed. The red-clad forwards tore big holes in the smaller Tulane front men, as Gilmer, Lowell Tew and Norwood Hodges went through for substantial gains.

The Tide scored on drives on 44, 63 and 36 yards.

Big Vaughan Mancha started Alabama to its first score, running 37 yards with an intercepted pass to the Tulane 44. Hodges ended the drive with a one-yard plunge.

Hugh Morrow missed a place kick that meant the ball game. He made the next two, but Ed Heider booted all three for Tulane.

After the first 'Bama score, with 53 seconds left in the half, Price fumbled John Wozniak's kickoff, picked it up a yard behind the goal line, found good interference and scampered down the right sideline all the distance.

Immediately after Tulane's ensuing kickoff Johnny August fumbled when tackled in trying a pass, and Ray Olsen recovered for Tulane on the Alabama 38. Or, the last play of the half Elender heaved a 28 yarder to Prats on the 'Bama ten, and Ray fell across the line with two tackles hanging on.

Two and a half minutes after the second half opened, Price intercepted a Gilmer pass on the dead run and went 55 yards to score without a Tidesman coming close.

Alabama abandoned passes then. Gilmer started a 63-yard scoring drive with a 29-yard slither off guard and Hodges ended it with a three-yard plunge.

A fumble recovery on Tulane's 36 gave Alabama its next chance, and the Tide rolled along the ground again until Bill Cadenhead sliced off right guard for the last six.

The fourth period went scoreless.

Alabama made 16 first downs to Tulane's nine, and gained 245 yards rushing against 115 for the Wave. Each team completed six passes but Tulane gained 58 yards with them and 'Bama only 27.

LAST PERIOD SCORE WINS FOR DUKE OVER N. C. STATE

DURHAM, N. C., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Duke Coach Wallace Wade, won revenge today by beating North Carolina State 7-0 in a Southern Conference football game.

Duke lost to State, 13-6, in the opener last year.

The Duke score came late in the last quarter. Footsie Palmer of State dropped back to pass. Bert Lyle and three Duke cohorts blocked the aerial and Louis Allen, who was standing by, caught the aerial and ran 45 yards for a touchdown. Paul Stephanz converted.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP)—First returns on the 1947 high school stars: . . . J. W. Jeffcoat, 160-pound speedster of Columbia, S. C., Olympic High, scored six touchdowns in his team's opener against York on runs of 95, 92, 65, 45, 32 and 5 yards. Two others were called back. . . . The next week Jeffcoat tallied three times and averaged nearly 20 yards per carry, despite a cracked rib. On the next-to-last play of that game he suffered a fractured vertebra and won't play again until next year, but the college scouts will be watching him then. He's state high school sprint champ and they say he's faster than Charley Justice was in his school days and just as elusive. . . . Fullback Paul Vitek, of Lansford, Pa., High (which produced Mike Holovak ten years ago) accounted for all 20 points in a victory over Summit Hill, scoring one T. D. and passing for two. Notre Dame's Frank Leahy has been following Paul's career with considerable interest.

SHREVEPORT BOLSTERS MOUND STAFF FOR 1948

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 27.—(AP)—In a move to bolster the Shreveport Sports' pitching staff for next season, the local baseball club has acquired two righthanders, Bonneau Peters, president of the Shreveport Texas League club, announced today.

Nat Love, of Abbeville, who compiled a record of 20 wins and nine losses for Greenville of the Class B Big State League, has been purchased by the Sports. Love is rated as one of the best pitchers in the Big State loop and has been well scouted, Peters said. The 30-year-old hurler will be delivered to the Sports next spring. the purchase price was not announced.

The other pitcher, Woodrow Rich, was acquired in a deal with Anniston, Ala., that sent Sport Hurler Elton Davis to the Southeastern League club.

Rich had a record of 17 won and nine lost while with Anniston the past season, having joined the club a month after the season was under way. He led the league in strikeouts.

Rich is 20 years old and was with Louisville in the American Association for two years, and spent some time with the Boston Red Sox.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Two perfect passes by Big Walt Pupa brought North Carolina a 14 to 7 football triumph over Georgia here today after the Bulldogs had taken an early lead and had kept the Tar Heels' famed running back, Charlie Justice, fairly well shackled.

One of the big fullback's tosses, thrown from midfield in the third period, brought the Tar Heels level with Georgia and the other, fired with less than three minutes remaining in the game, settled the issue. It was a sweet triumph for Carolina after its loss to Georgia in the last Sugar Bowl game. The defeat was the first suffered by Georgia in 18 games.

Georgia scored its lone touchdown in the second period, after gaining a "break" on a pass interference penalty. Johnny Donaldson broke through from the one-yard line.

FIELD GOAL GIVES VANDY 3-0 NORTHWESTERN WIN

EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Vanderbilt's scrappy Commodores ruined the debut of 31-year-old Bob Voigts as Northwestern's football coach today by scoring an upset 3 to 0 victory in the final four minutes before a crushed crowd of 42,000.

Zack Clinard, a reserve quarterback, booted a 13-yard field goal from placement to give the southerners their spectacular triumph. They outrushed, outscored, and outpassed Northwestern's Wildcats.

Northwestern playing a ragged game on the ground and in the air, never advanced beyond Vanderbilt's 33-yard line.

Vanderbilt climaxed a 86-yard drive in the fourth to score with Bob Berry, Joe Hicks and Jimmy Wade lugging the ball from Vanderbilt's two-yard line on a punt return. Wade, whose passing and running accounted for 110 yards of Vanderbilt's total of 233, carried the ball the last three smashes to hit the 3-yard stripe. Then Clinard dropped back for his successful field goal.

PLAN GRAMMAR SCHOOL LEAGUE

Kids Organize Football Teams At Six Monroe Institutions

Grammar school football will take its bow in Monroe for the first time this year with a league being organized under the auspices of the Monroe Recreation department, it was announced last night by Recreation Director Jack Hesketh.

The league will be open for all boys up to the sixth grade who do not weigh over 100 pounds, and each youth will be required to use at least helmets and shoulder pads as protective measures.

According to present plans, league games will be played on Sunday afternoons, beginning October 26, and abbreviated exhibition games will be played between the halves at high school and college games here.

Schools participating in the program so far are Lida Benton, Barkdull Faulk, Georgia Tucker, Sherrouse, Ouachita Grammar, and Central Grammar.

Coaches have already been named for most of the competing schools. Dan Willensky and Stanley Passman will have charge at Lida Benton, James McKay and Cecil Johnson are the Barkdull Faulk coaches. Cy Swingle is handling Georgia Tucker alone, as is Harry Pribble at Sherrouse.

Ouachita Grammar and Central Grammar have not yet signed coaches. Jim Hodgins, head coach at Ouachita Parish High School, was reported arranging for a coach for Ouachita Grammar, and anybody wanting the job at Central Grammar should apply since no mentor has been obtained for that squad so far.

Hesketh has also appealed for football equipment not in use. Any persons owning equipment that will be servicable for grammar school boys are being invited to contact Hesketh relative to the use of the togs by the kids.

Practice sessions begin tomorrow afternoon.

POTENT KILGORE RANGERS NEXT FOR N. J. C.

TEXANS TO OFFER HEAVY LINEUP FOR SATURDAY BATTLE

Improved Redskins Expect To Make Fight Despite Crippling Blows

The potent Kilgore Junior College Rangers of Kilgore, Tex., who took the measure of the Northeast Junior College Indians at the Texas City last year, 13-0, and sporting a club the Redskins have been able to beat only once in five previous meetings, come to Monroe next Saturday night to resume rivalry with the Tribesmen at 8 o'clock at Brown Field.

Right now the clash with the Rangers stacks up as about the most important game of the season so far as Coach James L. Malone's Warriors go out in quest of possibly their third victory. If the Malonemen can trim the Rangers, then N. J. C. followers can begin to feel the pressure is off and the Indians really have the sort of club Malone was praising as a "most talented" crew during pre-season workouts.

The game was originally scheduled for Thursday night, but Coach Malone announced at Friday night's tussle here with Henderson Junior college that the Kilgore game had been moved back to Saturday night.

Two thousand reserved seats will be put on sale in advance tomorrow, indicating that N. J. C. is looking forward to probably the biggest crowd that has ever seen a junior college contest here.

Faith in the Indians' football prowess bounded Friday night when the Indians pounded out a 29-0 triumph over Henderson, which came here twice victorious and previously unscored on this season, and the Redskins performed with even more perfection than they had a week before when they won their season opener from Northwest Mississippi, 19 to 13.

Woody Boyles wasn't in the N. J. C. starting lineup against Henderson, but the Redskin quarterback had a big hand in the victory as he personally scored one touchdown, pitched a touchdown pass, kicked two extra points, and booted a field goal. If Boyles' kicking toe is doing as well Saturday and a few touchdowns come in as well, his point kicking might easily mean the difference in victory or defeat.

Malone, however, expresses anxiety over the possible outcome, pointing to the absence of two tackles, Charles Dillon and Gene Grayson, put out of commission in the season opener, and the additional crippling blow that sent "Hickey" Bell, fullback, out of the Henderson game with a fractured shoulder. Left Halfback Jerry Gregg suffered a leg injury in the season opener and didn't get in much work against Henderson's Cardinals, and Al Carter, halfback, who contributed a touchdown in the win over the Red Birds, came out of the contest with leg injury of undetermined seriousness.

Kilgore scouts covered the N. J. C.-Henderson game thoroughly and can be expected to bring the Rangers here prepared to spike Redskin threats. But the Malonemen, operating almost entirely from the tricky and versatile "T" formation this year, can be counted on to come up with some special new plays for the Kilgore invaders.

N. J. C. won its first game from Kilgore, 41-6, in 1937, but since then has been under the thumb of the Rangers except for a 7-7 tie engagement in 1940.

The Rangers have a squad of 48 players to select from and the advanced brochure on the club reveals that thirteen of that number weigh 200 pounds or better, indicating the Redskins will probably be outweighed if the Ranger big boys are among the starters.

The Kilgore giants are listed as Fred Elair, 235-pound back; Darrell Shaver, 200-pound guard; Ed Staggs, 200-pound end; J. T. Watson, 205-pound guard; Milton Reed and Glyn Moore, 205-pound tackles; John Snider, 220-pound tackle; Warren Brown, 230-pound tackle; Lloyd McDonald, 210-pound tackle; Dan Sartain, 206-pound tackle; Bill Jacobs, 206-pound end; and Ed Grantham, 210, and Carl Ellis, 200, tackles. The only gratification the Indians can obtain from this setup is that most of the big boys are tackles and only two of them can be playing at the same time unless they play out of position.

L. S. U. Fights Off Stiff Rice Opposition To Win, 21-14

OUACHITA IN HOMECOMING SCRAP WITH BOLTON BEARS

Lions Get First Taste Of Class AA Competition Here Friday

The Lions of Ouachita Parish High School, undefeated in competition against Class A competition so far this season, test their strength against Class AA opposition when they meet the Bolton Bears, traditional rivals from Alexandria, here Friday night at Brown Field.

It will be homecoming for Ouachita, and the Lions, who have attracted approximately 12,000 fans to two home games so far expect to shove their attendance mark for the season near 20,000 when the Alexandria club comes to town.

Even though the Bruins suffered their first loss Friday night to the potent Fair Park Indians of Shreveport, 32 to 6, Coach Jim Hodgins and his aides, Herbert H. Holliman and Harold Dickens, have a chore on hand preparing their charges for the Bolton invasion.

Bolton has always been one of Ouachita's stiffest competitors in football and basketball rivalry, and the Bruins will be gunning for the Lions this trip. Last year they battled to a 7-7 tie. It may be fortunate for the Lions, but the contest will not be counted as a conference struggle. Although both Ouachita and Bolton compete in double A, the Bears operate in the southeast district while the Lions must make their progress against north district opposition which is narrowed down to Haynesville, Fair Park, and Byrd, the latter two from Shreveport.

Ouachita and Bolton have tied their last three games. Aside from last season's deadlock, the rival elevens played identical 13-13 draw games in 1945 and 1944, and previous to 1944 the Bruins had a string of five straight wins over Ouachita. Aside from the three straight ties, Lion and Bear rivalry since 1929 when Ouachita began developing independent teams, separate from the old combined club that included the city system, the victory status stands at ten for Bolton and four for Ouachita.

Bolton, this year, has been beating Winnsboro, 13-12, and Baton Rouge High, 21-14, while Ouachita has tripped Jonesboro-Hodge, Homer, and Ruston, and tied Bossier City.

With the exception of Tackle Bobby Bruce, who missed the Ruston game as the result of a leg injury, the Lions expect to be in good shape for the visitors. Coach Hodgins last night said Bruce was still not expected to be ready for Bolton, although he should be back in the lineup for the first conference game with Haynesville October 17.

Meanwhile, the election for homecoming queen is taking the spotlight on the O. P. H. S. campus. Balloting is already in progress, with the queen to be named Tuesday.

CINDERELLAS TO ENGAGE HARDWOOD TEAM TODAY

The Cinderella's manager, Hardy Goins, plans to leave after the game for New York and the World Series, it was announced, and his club plans to send him on his way victoriously if possible.

YELLOW JACKETS PULL SURPRISE ON VOLUNTEERS, 27-0

Former Neyland Pupil Outfoxes 'Old Fox' For Worst Vol Loss

ATLANTA, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Bob Neyland, the "Old Gray Fox" from Tennessee, got a football lesson today from a former pupil as Georgia Tech swept to a surprisingly easy 27-0 victory over the Vols.

A capacity crowd of 40,000 looked on as the well-drilled team of Bobby Dodd, a Vol star of the late twenties, meted out the worst defeat a Neyland-coached team has ever suffered.

The Vols shot their wad early in the opening period when they failed to capitalize on their only real threat. Tech, recouping late in the first period, held the upperhand after that and led at the half, 7-0.

The Vols, outclassed in every department, fought valiantly but never got their running attack clicking and failed through the air.

The Jackets drove 81 yards for the first touchdown, 85 for the second and 41 for the third. The final was a 33-yard sweep with a sub halfback, Billy Queen, going the last 24 yards. George Mathews, veteran lefthalfback, scored the first three touchdowns.

Mingling a passing attack, which clicked when needed, with razzle-dazzle ground forays, Tech piled up 345 net yards to 160 for the visitors, and registered 16 first downs to nine. The Jackets gained a net of 190 yards rushing to 81, and had an edge passing of 155 yards to 79. They made good on 11 of 19 passes while the Vols connected on eight of 17.

Neyland had never lost an opening game and masterminded the Vols to a 13-9 win over Tech last year.

TWO TOUCHDOWNS IN LAST QUARTER WIN FOR BENGALS

Y. A. Tittle Dominant Figure In Louisiana's March To Victory

By Leroy Simms

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 27.—(AP)—The Louisiana State Tigers blasted through for two fourth quarter touchdowns here tonight to win a convincing 21 to 12 victory over the Rice Owls before 46,000 fans.

The two teams favored to win championships in the Southeastern and Southwestern Conferences respectively, had battled on even terms until the Tigers launched their final scoring drive, good for 91 yards.

Y. A. Tittle, dominant figure in the L. S. U. victory, opened it with 12 yards on a smash at the middle, and threw a 19-yard pass to End Ray Bullock for the vital score. He also added all three L. S. U. extra points from placement, and ended the last Rice threat by intercepting a pass from Tobin Rote in the final minute.

Zollie Toth, sub L. S. U. fullback, had counted the tying touchdown a few minutes earlier on a blast through his right tackle for five yards. He dragged two or three Owl tacklers across with him.

This march, good for 33 yards, evened the count after the Owls had completely dominated play in the third period, and had scored on two well-executed pass plays, both from Rote to End Billy Taylor.

The Owls opened the scoring late in the first period in a 53-yard drive. Carl Russ and George Walmsley were the principal gainers, with Ike Eikenberg driving over for the final yard. J. (Froggie) Williams made the extra point, and it was 7-0, Rice.

L. S. U., thoroughly outplayed for the opening period slammed across a touchdown in four plays after Huey Keeney's fumble on a fourth down punt attempt gave the Tigers the ball at the Rice 25.

Two running plays netted 8, and Bill Schroll broke away for the final 17 yards on a wide sweep around his right end.

Y. A. Tittle kicked the tying point, to make it 7-7. L. S. U. was badly outclassed by the Owls through the first period, but the Tigers improved with time.

The widely-advertised Eikenberg to Wendell Williams pass combination failed to show. Williams was hurt in the second period, and was idle most of the last half. He took one throw from Eikenberg, good for 13 yards, and that was all.

Deadline Today For Posting Entries For Municipal Golf Event

E. E. Lawson, posting a 74, took the lead for medalist honors in the annual City Golf Championship Tournament beginning tomorrow over the Municipal Golf Club's layout, but expected heavy firing in the final day of qualifying today may put him down the line.

Match play begins tomorrow with the top 16 qualifiers bracketed in the championship flight, and the contenders allowed one week in which to play their matches. All first round matches will have to be played by next Sunday.

Other flights will be arranged according to the number of entries above the 16 making the championship grade.

CONERLY SPARKS OLE MISS REBELS OVER GATORS, 14-6

Mississippi Wins Second S. E. C. Triumph With Florida Victory

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Mississippi rode to its second consecutive Southeastern Conference victory of the still-young 1947 football season when they downed Florida, 14-6, in the Gator Bowl here tonight.

It was the right arm of "Chunkin' Charley" Conerly that gave the Rebels their win. Charley threw 'em right and left as well as down the middle as he used three different receivers to take Mississippi to its first score near the end of the third period.

Jenkins got the first counter on a pass from the Florida five-yard line. Bobbs Oswalt made good his first of two conversions and that would have been enough to win the game.

Will Glover took over for Conerly in the fourth period and provided the impetus that took Mississippi to its second touchdown. He scored it himself, skirting his left end from the Florida 10.

Florida, which had missed pay dirt on two previous drives, finally crossed the Ole Miss goal with but one minute and 10 seconds left in the game. Lazarus Lewis missed his placekick on the conversion attempt and the last minute went by without another serious threat.

Triple-threat Conerly, who ended tonight's fracas with a yardage gain of 194 yards running and passing, gave the crowd of 17,000 a sensational display of his prowess with the football in that first Rebel scoring drive.

He started it by taking a punt on his own 34 and running it back to the Florida 38. He found the ball a bit slippery on the next play and was downed before he could pass on the Florida 45.

There he set to work. A short toss to Red Jenkins on the left carried to the 32. One to Fish Salmon on the right carried to the 20. The third one was down the middle to Buddy Bowen and that put the ball on the Florida five with a first down and goal to go.

On the only play Conerly didn't get in on in the scoring series, Jenkins plunged to the two. Conerly came back with a short toss to Jenkins but Gator Doug Belden was there and Jenkins went down back on the five.

The next one was from Conerly to Jenkins off to the right and it was good for six points.

By its victory, Mississippi broke the three-year jinx that Ole Miss couldn't lick both Kentucky and Florida the same year. They came through in the favorite's role tonight after last week's surprise win over the Wildcats.

OKLAHOMA AGGIES TRIP TEXAS CHRISTIAN, 14-8

FORT WORTH, Tex., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Oklahoma A. and M.'s hard-bitten Cowboys made Texas Christian's home opening a disappointment today as Jim Spavital scatted 87 yards for one touchdown, John Carey passed to Bill Grimes for another and an iron bound defense kept T. C. U. halted for all except a few minutes in the third period to net a 14-7 victory.

A crowd of 14,000—Largest opening in T. C. U. history-marveled at the great speed of the Aggies, who pounded for 136 yards through the line and charged T. C. U. ball-carriers and passers for losses of 33 yards and 16 incompleted throws.

NAVY HANDED 14-7 UPSET BY CALIFORNIA'S BRUINS

BERKELEY, Calif., Sept. 27.—(AP)—California's Bears turned in one of the smashing early season football upsets today by defeating Navy 14-7 before nearly 80,000 fans.

The Bears rushed over a second period touchdown on a pass and two runs to assume the lead they maintained to the end.

They added to the advantage with a 64-yard run to a touchdown in the fourth quarter to apparently clinch the victory only to have the Midshipmen make it a ball game with a score of their own.

The last few minutes of play Navy blocked a punt, recovered the ball and cracked over the Californa goal.

MARYLAND TRIUMPHS

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Maryland's old liners copped a well earned Southern Conference grid contest from the South Carolina Gamecocks today, 19-13. The visitors went into the final period with a 19-0 lead but the Gamecocks suddenly came to life and almost tied the score in the final minutes. Lucien Gambino, Maryland right halfback, scored all touchdowns for the winners.

WISCONSIN TAMES PURDUE

Hoople's Nebular Calculations May Puzzle Best Grid Experts

By Major Amos B. Hoople
(Upset Specialist)

Egad! Gentle readers, in conformity with my custom of other years, I am favoring you with three-star upsets again this week.

One of the safest of these, according to my nebular calculations, is Boston University to defeat the mighty hosts of Harvard. But let me warn you, I am a man who frowns on wagering because of the quaint way a football may bounce.

One of the old adages of this craft of mine is: "Never select a Pacific coast team to defeat a Big Ten opponent." I am not a man, however, to be tied down by iron-bound axioms, so I am stepping right up on the rostrum and boldly announcing that UCLA will down Northwestern, which is usually a doughty contender for Western Conference honors. I am not afraid.

Brown's defeat of Princeton will cause an eyebrow to lift here and there in supposedly well-informed quarters, but not mine, my dear audience.

Why don't you abandon other silly forecasters and get your football opinions from me?

Now read the forecast, and happy landings!

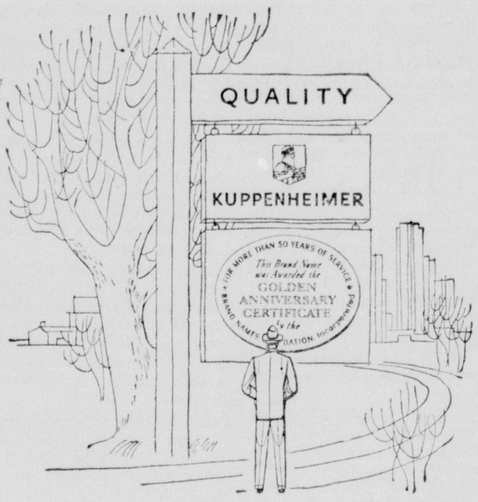
Signposts of quality



UNTIL RECENTLY, there were no street names or address numbers in Tokyo. In England in 1942, highway signs were removed to thwart invasion. Imagine trying to find your way around! Yes, we all depend on signposts. When selecting apparel, we're fortunate in having a large vocabulary of reliable markers—famous brand names—to guide us. Such a symbol is "Kuppenheimer," the "buy word" for fine clothing since 1876.

MRS. SPARKS URGES STUDY OF POLITICS

A plea for business and professional women to see that all its members are enrolled in the political party of their choice has been made by Mrs. Sara Sparks, of New York City, the National Federation's National Public Affairs chairman, in a message in honor of National Business Women's week, which will be celebrated throughout the country October 5 to 11.

"Plans for our next national election will soon be laid. If women are to do more than rubber stamp the candidates and issues to be determined by the two major parties, it is up to them to become active members now. It is also up to the women to see that qualified men and women are elected to office. And it is up to the women to see that qualified candidates are selected to formulate our public policies."

"We need every woman's voice in our elections. Even more, we need women's participation in the parties where the candidates and issues are determined. With women outnumbering men as citizens, women's lack of responsibility as citizens point a derisive finger at their plea for the attainment of the common good they covet. "Women must learn their ABC's," stated Mrs. Sparks.

AIR RESERVE WILL MEET ON MONDAY

It was announced that the meetings held on Tuesday night would be held Monday night for all air reserve officers and enlisted personnel in the courtroom of the City Hall at 7:30.

All former members, both officer and enlisted men, of the air corps are urged to attend. Matters pertaining to arrival of planes for reserve training here in Monroe will be discussed as well as other subjects of importance.

MUSIC ASS'N TO INITIATE DRIVE

Kickoff Lunch Will Be Held Monday In Hotel Virginia

The kickoff luncheon for the Civic Music association will be held in Hotel Virginia, Monday at 6:15 p.m. The hour is made early so that those who attend can later attend the Town Hall lecture at the Ouachita Parish High School auditorium at 8 p.m.

The drive by the campaign workers will start Monday and will end October 4.

R. H. Kuhlman, of the national association, is in Monroe and will address the party at the luncheon explaining the plans for the coming year.

Mayor H. H. Benoit has issued the following proclamation in connection with the campaign:

In order to promote and advance the cultural interests of our community, the civic leaders of Monroe have undertaken a program through which outstanding artists of radio, motion pictures and concert stage will be presented each year to the people of our city. In view of its importance to the progress and advancement of Monroe and the great benefits to be gained therefrom,

As Mayor of Monroe, I hereby proclaim the week of September 29 through October 4 as CIVIC MUSIC WEEK in Monroe and urge that this movement be given the full support of all the people of Monroe.

WITNESS MY HAND on this 26th day of September, 1947.

BROTHERS PARTED IN INFANCY MEET

VAN NUYS, Calif., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Two brothers, apart 28 years since infancy, have found each other—in adjoining beds at Birmingham Veterans General Hospital.

Rodolfo Robleto, 28, born Espalin but adopted by a Deming, N. M., family in infancy, was admitted six months ago for tropical disease treatment. Arthur A. Espalin, 30, came to the hospital a few days ago for a stomach operation and wound up in the next bed.

They made the discovery yesterday. Now they're planning a family reunion.

The community chorus movement was launched in the United States in 1912 when Harry Barnhart, a singer, musician and conductor, organized a chorus in Rochester, N. Y.

HUGE OIL PROFITS FROM UNION FIELD

$53,730 Yield For August Now Doubled; New Stone Well Second Best

With only 21 successful wells in August, the third month of Union parish's new Ora field's existence, 30,703 barrels of oil, valued at $53,730.25, were produced. Yesterday there were 37 wells flowing and pumping, with several others ready to be completed, and the yield for September and the value of the output were expected to be double the figures for the previous month.

As computed from the August production report of the Monroe district conservation office, the 21 wells produced 1,462 barrels of oil per day, or 47 barrels per day per well.

After deduction of the state severance tax of 10 cents per barrel, one-eighth of the remainder of the $53,730.25 went to the land owners in royalty or to whoever they had sold their mineral rights. The one-eighth royalty in August amounted to $6,319.98 or $204 per day.

Ore field's second biggest producer on conservation department potential test is J. Floyd Stone's P. J. Tucker No. 2 in section 34-22-1W, which was officially reported yesterday as having been rated as pumping 356 barrels per day from 2,082-93 feet. Stone's No. 1, on the south half of a 20-acre lease just north of the Sellars-Ewing company's six Tucker wells, was brought in August 23 and flowed on test at the rate of 114 barrels per day. The Stone No. 2's production rate was exceeded only by the Shell company's Frost Lumber A-13 which was gauged last month as flowing 381 barrels per day.

The conservation department's weekly report lists the Pan-American Producing company's deep well in Union parish—the Elva Rugg No. 1 in section 31-20-1W—as waiting on Schlumberger test at 8,200 feet. Contract depth is 10,000 feet.

Sohio Petroleum company's Ayer Timber Co. B-1 in the Killen's Ferry field in section 25-14-9E in Franklin parish, was completed and gauged as flowing at the rate of 93 barrels of 64.8 gravity oil per day through a 3/8-inch choke from perforations at 6,672-7 feet. The gas-oil ration was given as 15,000 to 1. The yield will be used for the present as fuel for drilling other wells in the field, the conservation office said. Sohio has applied for a permit for Ayer Timber Co. B-2, one mile south of the new producer.

Roy L. Fisher's Tensas Delta No. 1, a wildcat in section 5-11-6E in Franklin parish, six miles south of Fort Necessity, was reported at 5,650 feet. The announced depth was 6,800 feet.

Morehouse parish's hopes for oil production got another setback with announcement that the Union Oil Company of California had abandoned its J. W. Thompson No. 1, four miles south of Collinston. The well was plugged as dry after reaching a depth of 2,400 feet. Another Morehouse test, the Taylor-Kirby company's Doc. E. H. Clark No. 1, four miles southeast of Mer Rouge, was reported at 2,100 feet.

The California Company's 9,000-foot Ouachita parish test, the Breece Lumber Co. No. 2 in the Lafourche swamp, eight miles southeast of Monroe, was listed in the weekly report as drilling ahead at 5,398 feet.

In the Floyd gas field in East Carroll parish, the Union Producing company's oil test, the O'Brien A-1-A in section 5-19-11E, five miles southeast of Pioneer, was drilling at 3,840 feet.

Two unsuccessful tests were reported for Murphy-Sun. It's E. Sondheimer core test No. 1 in section 4-17-11E in Madison parish, nine miles east and two miles north of Delhi, was abandoned at an unannounced depth, and it's Lane-Cutler No. 1 in section 18-17-10E in Richland parish, within the Delhi town limits, was plugged as dry at 3,433 feet. The latter well was in the same 40 acres as the Jones No. 2, an oil producer, and in the east offset of the Kingwood company's Jones gas well. Murphy-Sun's R. F. Marston No. 1, a wildcat in section 19-16-10E in Madison parish, has been reperforated after squeezing and is undergoing new tests.

OPTIMISTS HAVE HILARIOUS TIME

Spellers Who Miss Words Part With Articles Of Clothing

The Optimists were hilarously entertained Friday by a spelling match in which the person missing a word had to remove an article of clothing. The spellers (or mis-spellers) were Jack Willis, Bill Jackson, J. C. Thrower and Walter Reed. They really put on a show although the spelling was not what one would call excellent. Charlie Crockett was in charge of the program and selected his own "volunteers."

Visitors were Trot Miller, of the Shreveport Optimist Club; Vaughn O. Allen, of Ritchie Grocery, and Bob Sale, of Sale's Studios.

Robert Rainwater, Jake Pope, C. R. Tillman and Ivy McDonald, with the assistance of Trot Miller, of Shreveport, agreed to take the Junior Optimists to the N. J. C. football game.

Optimists of Greater Monroe are busily engaged this week in final preparations for "Optimist Week," which will start by official proclamation of Mayor H. H. Benoit, of Monroe, and Mayor C. C. Bell, of West Monroe, on Sunday, October 5.

Emphasizing the need for a greater public understanding of Optimists and their work, W. L. Howard, president of the Optimist Club of Greater Monroe, pointed out that the very fact that Optimists are interested in rescuing boys from delinquency, and therefore must take care that individual cases are not publicized, the real work of optimism is not evident to most citizens. The results are evidenced by a long-range contribution of capable, trustworthy young men to the civic body, and mistakes of their youth must be forgotten.

"Optimist Week," said W. L. Howard, "is our annual effort to bring the rest of the world to a clear understanding of the values of human rights—to the importance of right thinking, and to an acceptance of our responsibility in building the younger generation of today so that it will secure the peace, prosperity, and happiness of the world of tomorrow."

CONTENDS DONLEVY ENCOURAGED DATES

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Actor Brian Donlevy encouraged her to date other men—his wife, Singer Marjorie Lane, countercharged yesterday—so he could "entrap me in a compromising position."

Donlevy earlier had alleged that he found her in bed in a New York hotel room with New York Socialite James Hannan.

Mrs. Donlevy, asking the court for $52,500 fees to fight the actor's action in custody of their daughter, Judith Ann, four, was granted $2,100 after Donlevy's business manager, Boyd Conde, testified the actor has only $13,000 in the bank and owes $12,000.

In addition to custody, Mrs. Donlevy wants a portion of the actor's pay which she estimated at $7,500 weekly. Donlevy obtained an interlocutory divorce decree last February. Moreover, Mrs. Donlevy told the court:

"What they saw when the door to my bedroom was opened by force is highly colored and imaginative, and I will prove it at the trial."

FIRE CALL WRONG, DAMAGE IS $2,000

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The early morning pedestrian had a little trouble with street addresses and the net result was a runaround for firemen and a $2,000 fire.

It all happened this way:

Peter Lanzer, who lives at 925 East Stafford St., was asleep and his half-ton truck, parked outside, caught fire. A passerby noticed the blaze, called fire headquarters and reported the truck in front of 1927 East Stafford St.

Firemen checked, found there was no such address, enlisted police help, then dispatched engine 56 to the neighborhood to locate the fire.

They didn't, but meanwhile the passerby found his error, called headquarters again and this time told them the blaze was at 952 East Stafford.

Engine 19 hurried to the scene and found the truck parked in front of 925. The fire meanwhile had gained considerable headway and the awakened Lanzer estimated damage at $2,000.

While on overseas service, a soldier draws 20 per cent extra pay and enjoys greatly increased opportunities for promotions.

Miss Hughes Is September Bride

Wedding Is A Climax To Weeks Of Entertainment For Popular Couple

The first fall wedding of prominence took place September the twentieth at the First Presbyterian Church at 7:30 o'clock in the evening when Miss Bennie Wathen Hughes, lovely daughter of Mrs. Lucius Graham Hughes and the late Mr. Hughes walked down the aisle to a flower banked altar to become the bride of Mr. Nelson Dyer Abell, son of Mrs. Nelson D. Abell and the late Mr. Abell. The ceremony was performed impressively and with considerable dignity by the pastor, Reverend Ernest Holloway.

The altar was a mass of southern smilax trailing from organ loft and chancel rail. In the background cathedral tapers in floor candelabra of graduated lengths flamed high and supplied the only light for the church during the ceremony. The electrics blazed forth at the first note of the recessional played by Leon Hammond, organist.

White gladioli overflowing from Princess baskets were arranged in a semi-circle on the platform where the bridegroom and his best man, Mr. Robert C. Elder, awaited the bride.

While the tapers were being lighted and the guests, seated by the ushers, Mr. H. Kirt Touchstone, Jr., Mr. Harold Dixon Touchstone, Melville Dixon, Jr., and David Garrett, Jr., all in tuxedos, the organist rendered a prenuptial concert. He also accompanied Mrs. Roy Brooks, soloist, she sang in a beautiful voice "Search" by Fibeck and during the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Sue Dickard, maid of honor, wore a lush green moire taffeta model fashioned with a tight fitting basque, long, full skirt, bustle back. A poke bonnet of green moire was worn and she carried a muff of gardenias and tube-roses.

The flower girls, Jane Whitley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Asher Whitley of Baton Rouge and Helen Ann Touchstone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kirt Touchstone, Jr., wore French dresses of white swiss with pink ribbon sashes and chaplets of pink flowers in their hair. They both carried small Marie Antoinette baskets of tube-roses.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Graham Hughes, wore the traditional wedding gown of ivory Duchess satin. It was a regal gown, bereft of ornament and characterized by elegant simplicity. The basque was tight fitting with sweetheart neckline and the sleeves, puffed high at the shoulders were tight fitting ending in lily points over the hands. The skirt, very full and long, hung in shining folds ending in a court train.

Wears Veil of Lace

The bride's veil of Rose point lace was caught to a lace cap. Her flowers were charmingly arranged in a Colonial bouquet fashioned of valley lilies and tube-roses.

For something old she wore her grandmother's antique brooch and for luck she placed a sixpence in her shoe. For sentimental reason she wore the beautiful gold watch Mr. Abell brought her from Switzerland for a wedding gift.

Mrs. Hughes, the bride's mother, was a lovely figure in a pastel blue crepe evening model with pink gardenias in her hair. Mrs. Abell, the bridegroom's attractive mother, wore an evening model of pale pink chiffon with pink gardenia corsage.

The reception at the Lotus club attracted at least four hundred guests. They stood in a long line in the foyer leading to the flower banked main lounge where the wedding party received, assisted by Mrs Hughes and Mrs. Abell.

Many beautiful flowers were in evidence throughout the club rooms and in the library the bride's table was centered with the wedding cake, a luscious square confection, three-tiered and adorned with spun sugar valley lilies. There was an artistic spray of lilies on the top most layer. The cake was imbedded in effective manner in a ring of valley lilies and white roses. At either end of the table white candles gleamed in Colonial crystal candelabra and silver bonbonniers held wedding ring mints.

White clad attendants served lime sherbet frappe and a few of the bride's most intimate friends passed silver trays laden with individual wedding cakes. They were: Misses Cornelia McHenry, Alice Brauer, Mimi Meeks, Dorothea Girault, Jane Rhymes, Jo Ann Biedenharn, Polly Breard, Betty Sue Jones, Mrs. O. B. Frazier, Mrs. Frank Jones, Mrs. Charles Carter.

Assisting in extending courtesies were: Mrs. James C. Liner, Mrs. Kennedy Abbington, Mrs. Herbert Dickard, Mrs. H. K. Touchstone, Mrs. O. A. Easterling, Mrs. David Garrett, Mrs. A. G. McHenry, Mrs. Ernest Holloway, Mrs. Cecile Parker, Mrs. Benton Holt, Mrs. Floyd Taylor, Mrs. Duncan Cook, Mrs. Herbert Breard, Mrs. Chapman Taylor, Mrs. Frank Thompson, Mrs. Barlow Inabnet, Mrs. S. L. Digby, Mrs. Richard Wilson, Mrs. George Lester, Miss Eunice Haynes, Mrs. John Humble.

After the bride cut her wedding cake she changed her wedding gown for a smart tailleur of coca gabardine with dark brown accessories. She and Mr. Abell will honeymoon in Georgia and Florida. Later they will be at home at The Elms in Natchez, Miss.

The bride is a graduate of Neville high school and Northeast Junior college and the Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge where she was a member of Chi Omega sorority. She is also a member of Delta Beta Sigma.

Mr. Abell is a graduate of Ouachita Parish high school and the Georgia School of Technology. He is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. Since returning from overseas where he served with the submarine force, Pacific fleet, and later on Germany, he has been associated with Ford, Bacon, and Davis Construction Co.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. Abell's grandmother, Mrs. A. G. Abell of St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. Richard Wilson of Macon, Ga., Mrs. B. L. Johnston of New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dixon, Miss Mary Atkins Dixon and Harold Dixon, Jr., of Hattiesburg, Miss., Miss Eunice Haynes of Dallas, Mrs. Chapman Taylor of Tyler, Texas, Miss Ann Meadows of Homer, La., Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Beaton, Charles Carney and Cameron Graham of Natchez, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rush and Mrs. D. Civic Music Drive Starts

Dinner Will Be Held Monday For Civic Music Association Workers

Upon the horizon appears the first herald of one of the year's most important undertakings . . . the Monroe Civic Music Association membership drive. Like the first carmine leaf giving notice of the approaching winter, a national representative of the Civic Music Association comes to Monroe each year at this time to assist local members in bringing their membership campaign to successful fulfillment. Mr. Robert Kuhlman of New York arrived in the city last week nd is giving members of the various committees the benefit of his experience in the work at hand.

Following the membership campaign the glamorous personalities listed as available, for this year will be selected and the concert season will go forward in the old familiar way.

Lovers of good music are in a rejoicing mood today as the outlook is most favorable even though the campaign is not yet underway. The initial meeting of committees will take place Monday night, during the dinner hour at the Virginia Hotel with the president. Mrs. Fred Fudickar, Jr., presiding. He will introduce Mr. Kuhlman and each committee chairman will be given final instructions.

Under the Civic Music Plan, which is in successful operation in more than 500 communities throughout the United States, only members may attend the concerts presented. Membership is available to all, but only during the annual membership week, Sept. 29 through Oct. 4. The organization is completely non-profit, all proceeds of the drive go toward more and better concerts for Monroe members.

Artists are selected by the local talent committee, composed of representative citizens who are among those most active in promoting good music. This selection of artists is made immediately at the close of the membership campaign—which plan requires no guarantors and incurs no affects.

Only artists of national and international reputation are engaged. Among artists previously presented by the Monroe Association are, Robert Merrill, Zimbalist, McCormic Margaret Speaks, Jean Dickenson, Houston Symphony, Vivian Della Chiesa, Gladys Swarthout, Leon Fleisher and many others.

FEDERATED CLUB WOMEN ARE NOW BUSILY ENGAGED MAKING PLANS FOR THE YEAR AHEAD

Isn't it wonderful to wake up these crisp, cool days of early fall filled with the zest of living and eager for the strenuous days ahead. Particularly zestful are federated club women and especially members of the Business and Professional Women's club who are facing one of the most important year's in the history of the local organization. Next month they will observe their twenty-fifth anniversary and elaborate plans are underway.

The highlight of the program will be the dinner party in the Mirror room of the Frances hotel, Wednesday night, October 8.

Miss Maibel Hood, chairman, has arranged a unique program accentuating the silver anniversary theme. Prominent speakers will be presented and a program of music will add interest to the event.

There are just three charter members still active in the local club, namely, Miss Mary O'Kelly, Mrs. Laura Slator and Miss Edith Gunby. They will be introduced at the anniversary dinner.

The month of November will find federated club women motoring to Lake Charles, La., where the Louisiana State convention will be held. The state president, Mrs. Samuel Levy of Natchitoches, La., is urging delegates to make their reservations early and is also urging each club to send their president to the convention. "President's Night", November 7, will be a brilliant occasion with all delegates in formal evening attire.

NEWCOMERS ARE WELCOME TO MONROE BY THE HOSTESS OF THE WELCOME WAGON CLUB

A new club, to be known henceforth as the Welcome Wagon Club was organized last week at radio station KNOE by Mrs. R. L. McHenry, club hostess for the Twin Cities.

At this time Mrs. McHenry gave a brief history of the Welcome Wagon Club. She said:

It began in Texas, when two boys wanted to help the communities in which they lived by bringing in new people and by making these people so satisfied that they would want to stay. Their idea was based on the welcome extended our courageous forefathers who, as they approached the advanced outposts on their hazardous way westward, were met by a Conestoga Wagon sent out to meet them by the earlier settlers laden with water and provisions for the exhausted traveler. These lumbering prairie schooners were known as "Welcome Wagons."

Now every moving van — every freight car of household goods that enters our city brings more than mere furniture and furnishings. It heralds a newcomer to the community—a family come to live in our midst—to establish new surroundings, to develop new business connections, to partake of any hospitality extended.

As Welcome Wagon hostess for Monroe and West Monroe for the past eleven years, Mrs. McHenry told of her privilege to meet and greet these new people and to do what she could to make them feel at home.

Those who were introduced at this time included Mrs. A. V. Miller, Jr., whose husband, Dr. Miller, is now practicing in Monroe; Mrs. Jones Dunham, formerly of Jackson, Miss., whose husband owns the Taylor Machine Works in this city; Mrs. E. D. Hall, Jr., whose husband is associated with the Shell Oil Company; Mrs. Herbert G. Bailey, wife of the secretary of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. G. U. Yoachum, whose husband is the owner of the Tristate Well Servicing Company. Mrs. Yoachum, a talented musician rendered several instrumental numbers at this time.

TEEN-AGE GIRLS ELECT NEW OFFICERS FOR THEIR VARIOUS CLUBS AT THE 'Y'

"If we can grow as simply as common blades of grass, bot tall and straight as trees grow to the sky, then we can learn to know and understand ourselves and others what we do and why. We, the younger generation are striving now to build a better world, Peace and Unity. Freedom and brotherhood. These we have set to be our goal." These words are on the lips of every member of the Y-Teens, Junior members of the Y. W. C. A. who now meet regularly.

Members of the Y-Teens enjoy the social side of life and especially out-of-door activities. They are constantly planning picnics, hayrides and weiner roasts, but they also enjoy more formal affairs at regular intervals. They develop leadership and accept responsibility through serving as club leaders. They have interesting programs and activities based on Religion, Health, the Arts, Community problems and Relationships; Personal Relationships, and Work Relationships.

They learn to work with girls their own age and adults in a cooperative manner; become understanding of the opinions of others; go to conferences.

The theme for the year ahead is: "Make Way for Youth". The purpose is to face life squarely and to find and give the best." The motto is: "Our job is to be our best, to do our best, to bring out the best in others and so make a better world." (Newton)

Y-Teens are Junior members of the Young Women's Christian Association, one of the Red Feather service of the Community Chest. Any girl who is 12-18 years of age and who wants to be a member by accepting the ideals and purposes of the club is eligible for membership.

Members of the Triad Club of Y-Teens met at the "Y" and elected the following to serve as officers for the coming year; Jackie Barr, president; Joan Bandy, vice-president; Juanita Warner, recording secretary; Carla Beth McKenzie, corresponding secretary; Carol Jean Williamson, treasurer; Anna Jo Bawcom, inter-club council representative; Margaret Tyler, reporter; Libby Ann Mulhearn, devotional chairman.

The Y'd Awake Club elected the following officers: Barbara Monroe, president; Dorothy McCormick, vice-president; Lillian LeBlanc, secretary; Frances Manley, treasurer; inter-club representative, Margaret Hunter; Reporter, Bonnie Albritton.

Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Guidry whose wedding took place last month at St. Matthew's Catholic Church. Mrs. Guidry was formerly Miss Melva Gene Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bell of this city. Mr. Guidry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Guidry of West Monroe. Mr. and Mrs. Guidry are now residing in Shreveport, where Mr. Guidry is associated with the Western Electric Co.

Miss Ganey Is The Bride Of W. W. Brewton, Jr.

A wedding of recent date claiming the interest of friends is that of Miss Tris Alyene Ganey, daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Ganey and Mr. Ira Ganey and Mr. William Walter Brewton Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Brewton of Jena, La.

The ceremony took place at the First Baptist church, this city at two o'clock in the afternoon with the pastor, Rev. L. T. Hastings, officiating in the presence of friends and relatives.

Before the nuptial hour the organist, Billie Forque, rendered a concert featuring "I Love You Truly" and "Until."

The bride's attendant, Miss Florene Hardison, wore a white Princess model of lace with a wide brimmed hat of black and long black gloves. She carried a bouquet of white carnations. Mr. L. B. Portier of Jena, served as best man and the groomsmen were Mr. Cobie Mason and Mr. Hodge Garrett.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a white gabardine suit with lace blouse and a white, wide-brimmed hat. She carried a white, ivory bound Bible surmounted with a spray of tube roses and valley a spray of tuberoses and valley lilies.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. Before the young couple left on their honeymoon they cut their beautifully embossed wedding cake. It centered the lace covered table in the dining room. Frosted punch was served from a crystal bowl imbedded in a mound of pink roses at one end of the table. Mrs. J. D. Strange and Mrs. Grace Palmer assisted in serving.

The bride changed her wedding raiment for a going-away suit of navy blue with white blossoms and white accessories. The honeymoon was spent in the Ozark mountains.

The bride is a graduate of the Jena High School and attended business college in this city. Mr. Brewton attended Northwestern college before serving for three years in the navy stationed in the South Pacific.

The five major causes of fires in the home are careless smoking, in bed, children left alone at home, and clothing ignited by open fire place or bon-fire.

LEGISLATION IS TO BE EXPLAINED

The national affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce will meet October 7. Representative Otto E. Passman will attend and will discuss legislation planned at the coming legislative session.

Special stress will be given to proposed measures that wil have effect on the Fifth Congressional district.

The meeting will in no sense be of a political nature.

Books To Read Now

Now that summer vacation is over and the first crisp days of fall are here, people are again thinking of the pleasure of reading a good book. In the early fall each year the publishers bring out many attractive titles. This year is no different from the others. The Ouachita Parish Public Library has new books to appeal to every type of reader.

The book which will probably have the great appeal is Ben Ames Williams' latest title, "House Divided." This is another story of the Civil War. It has been compared by some with "Gone With The Wind." It is comparable in size, but the story lacks the steady appeal found in the earlier book. It is a story of a family, rather than a person. It is well done and readers of historical novels will not want to miss it.

A very colorful adventure story is "The Silver Nutmeg," by Nora Lofts. The setting on the exotic East Indian island of Banda adds much to the charm of the story. Men as well as women will like this intense, quietly dramatic story.

"Drums of Destiny," by Peter Bourne is another historical novel. This is essentially the story of the rise and fall of the Negro Empire of Haiti. The hero is Duncan Stewart, a young Scottish doctor, who came to the island of Haiti for personal reasons and stayed to become the physician for the insurgent army. It is better than the general average and provides interesting reading.

Myron Brinig has made a name for herself as a novelist who is particularly good at tracing family relationships. She has lived up to her previous work in her newest book, "Hour of Nightfall." Helen Albertson was always the prettiest girl in town and this is the story of the power which her beauty had upon everyone who knew her, and particularly upon her daughter, Sally, who had none of her mother's loveliness. This is a thoughtful and discerning novel and will be widely read.

In the pages of Lion Feuchtwanger's new novel, "Proud Destiny," we see a new nation, poor and scornfully treated, begin its rise to great power, and the beginning of the fall of a nation that had been rich and proud. The court of Marie Antionette and her husband, Louis, is the scene of the story. Benjamin Franklin is one of the main characters. A reader expecting from a historical novel a sequence of gripping and colorful events, and the turning of empty names into flesh and blood will find all these things in "Proud Destiny."

A reader who likes to read about everyday people will be vitally interested in Richard Sherman's "The Bright Promise." This is a story of a woman who came to maturity during the thirties. The effects of the depression, the Roosevelt era and the war, upon her personal life are skillfully portrayed. After reading this book, you feel as though Amy is a person whom you have known and liked for a long time.

Another novel with a present-day setting is "Moon Gaffney," by Harry Sylvester. The scene of this story is New York and the Tammany Hall crowd. How the hero finally revolts against the machine, makes the story what it is. "Friends and Lovers," by Helen McInnes is a charming story of young love and its triumph over parental objections.

Readers of mystery stories will be interested in Elizabeth Daly's "Night Walk" and Kathleen Moore Knight's "The Horses of Taxco."

Other interesting new books of fiction are "The Semi-Attached Couple," by Emily Eden; "Station West," by Luke Short; "The Happy Prisoner," by Minica Dickens; "The Labors of Hercules," by Agatha Christie; "Creatures of Circumstance," by Somerset Maugham; "Vespers in Vienna," by Bruce Marshall, and "My Father's House," by Meyer Levin.

All of these books can be found in the Ouachita Parish Public Library at both branches. The one in Monroe is located at 418 Jackson Street and the one in West Monroe at 413 Natchitoches Street. If you are not a registered borrower of the library, do not delay any longer to avail yourself of this privilege. You will be most welcome and can surely find just the type of book you want.

Mr. and Mrs. John Downes of Houston, Texas, former residents of this city have just returned from Europe and are visiting in the home of Mr. Mrs. Booles Breed on North Third street. Their many friends are plying them with questions about conditions abroad and Mr. Downes is certainly in a position to give them first hand information as he is building a plant for the French government in southern France. Enroute home, Mr. and Mrs. Downes made a tour of the British Isles and other points of interest on the continent.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rogers haven't missed one of the traditional cocktail parties in the T. J. Singletary home in Baton Rouge following the L. S. U.-Rice football game, in years. This year was no exception—they were among the guests discussing the game that draws thousands of out-of-town football enthusiasts every year. Baton Rouge is definitely a football town. When the first football game of the season takes place it's a signal for all manner of entertaining but the most brilliant affair, socially, is the cocktail party at the Singletary home. These parties at the Singletary home, we were told, have been taking place for thirty years. Others from Monroe attending the party last night were Mr. and Mrs. John Sherrouse, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. D. Y. Smith.

Americans are very much concerned over the approaching marriage of Princess Elizabeth. Every little detail about her wedding and particularly her wedding gown is read with interest. A writer for the London Times tells of her intended visit to Norman Hartnell's fitting rooms on Bruton street—a few doors from where she was born—to see her wedding gown.

Hartnell's designers and seamstresses are sworn to secrecy. Although the entire fashion world and three capitals are clamoring for information, Princess Elizabeth herself has decreed that the dress shall not be seen until she walks down the aisle at Westminster Abbey.

In mid-October, Hartnell will be permitted to show the specially-woven material to a few selected fashion writers and experts who also will be sworn to secrecy. About a fortnight before the wedding, another small group will be permitted to see the gown after pledging their honor, reputation and standing in court circles not to talk about it.

After examining the gown, the princess will return to Scotland to continue her holiday until the royal family takes up residence in Buckingham palace the second week in October.

Princess Elizabeth will make her first appearance in parliament as heiress presumptive on Oct. 21. She will accompany King George and Queen Elizabeth to the semistate opening ceremonies, according to palace sources. The princess will sit in a gilded chair—on a lower level and three feet to the right of King George's throne. It will be the first time the right-side chair has been occupied since the Duke of Windsor accompanied his father, King George V, in 1936.

Queen Elizabeth will occupy another throne, traditionally one inch lower than the king's. Princess Margaret will sit in the royal gallery. Lt. Phillip Mountbatten, Elizabeth's fiance, has not yet applied to the royal Chamberlain for special permission to sit in the royal gallery.

The first big prewedding ceremony will occur on Nov. 5, when a deputation from 21 "privileged bodies" will wish the king happiness for his daughter.

A special vellum (parchment) marriage license and another dcoument giving Princess Elizabeth parental permission to marry Mountbatten is now ready for King George's inspection.

SOCIAL WELFARE HOLDS CONFERENCE

The program committee of the Louisiana Conference of Social Welfare met in New Orleans, September 25. A representative from each region of the state was chosen to serve on this committee. Mrs. Taunton Veazey, executive secretary of Red Cross, was selected from region II. Miss Bertha Shceverman, public assistance supervisor of New Orleans, is chairman of the committee. Mrs. Veazey stated that this was a preliminary meeting, and that she would appreciate receiving suggestions from all conference members as to the type of program and subjects they would like presented at the state meeting.

The state conference will be held in Baton Rouge March 11, 12 and 13, 1948. The committee decided there would be eight sectional meetings, two general night meetings, and a delegate assembly meeting.

Mrs. E. Crowley Entertains The Reader's Clique

The gracious hospitality extended by Mrs. Edwin Crowley was greatly enjoyed by members of The Reader's Clique when the regular meeting was held last week. A short business session was conducted by Mrs. Burl Hollis preceding the program.

Mrs. Joe Bennett, program chairman, introduced Miss Marjorie Oliver, supervisor of Elementary Schools of Monroe, who presented the first of a series of lectures on Child Guidance. Miss Oliver has recently studied under University of Chicago instructors and the information she offered is from the latest and most scientific study of children. The speaker claims a family of thousands of children during her teaching experiences and qualifies to the notch to inform any mother on this subject. No better audience could this capable instructor have than the twenty enthusiastic mothers who listened with keen interest to find where they had failed in the past and how they might cope with future problems.

What makes a child behave as he does? This was the all important question which Miss Oliver set out to answer. "Behavior is caused," she said. "No child is bad just to be bad, steals just to steal, or lies just to lie. In order to find the key to this problem, we must have an insight to the five areas of a child's life. These are: (1) Physical (2) Affectional (3) Peer (4) Developmental Tasks and (5) Adjustment. In considering the physical side, it is found that all children go through the same pattern of growth; no one walks before he stands, or eats solids before liquids, yet no two go through their growth at the same rate of development."

Miss Oliver prescribed love and affection for all children as a basic necessity for personality growth, just as food is necessary for physical growth. The new text books on child care reveal that social recognition, a feeling of personal security, and a sense of belonging are a necessity for every human being, but more so for the child from birth to adolescenec." "A child which comes to school without security cannot learn" stated the speaker who discussed at length ten topics that threaten a child's security.

A forum was held at the close of the discussion and instruction and parents had the opportunity to present their personal problems. They learned from this study that the system adopted today is a far cry from the methods of ten and fifteen years ago when medical science prescribed strict routine and letting babies learn by themselves; they now believe children have a right to human contact and affection.

During the social hour the hostess served delicious refreshments to the following members: Mesdames, Oliver Lowery, Stanley Archibald, Ray Updegraff, Raymond John, Walter Ryland, Evans Etheridge, Sidney Gill, James Harbuck, Clay Albright, G. L. Morgan, Edwin Crowley, Joe Bennett, Thomas Wilson, Mike John, Jr., Ivy Jordan, Burl Hollis, Henry Menuet, and guests Miss Marjorie Oliver and Mrs. R. M. Pryor.

When I was a boy of 14 my father was so ignorant I could hardly stand to have the old man around. But when I got to be 21, I was astonished at how much the old man had learned in seven years.—Mark Twain.

WISDOM FOUND IN MAN'S WORD

S. H. Dillard Brings Thrilling Message To Bible Class Members

At a meeting of the Memorial Methodist Church Bible class, venerable S. H. Dillard gave such an inspirational talk that members voted to have it reproduced in the Morning World. Mr. Dillard, a retired man, is father of Mrs. A. T. White in Monroe. It is given as follows:

"It seems that if we should seek after our lost selves we might find and identify our real self, and welcome him back into his own house that had so long been occupied by his unreal self. Then we might become again as little children springing into life eternal. One day someone called Jesus's attention to a throng of little children who had gathered about him and suggested that they be gotten out of the way. He said, not so; suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven, and unless you become as little children you can not enter into the Kingdom of Heaven.

"Listen now to this one more sad denunciation: He that offends one of these little ones that believe in me it would be better for him that a mill stone had been tied about his neck and be cast into the depth of the sea; offenses must come but woe unto him who bringeth the offense.

"Grown folks lose their real self in their vain and foolish pride of life and it becomes hard for them to find their real self again.

"May God help us to open the eye of our vain and foolish imaginary minds, and cause us to see ourselves as thou seeth us, and deliver us from the jaws and belly of hell, which is now about to swallow the whole world, as it did in the day of Noah: Is my prayer."

SYRACUSANS WILL HOLD CARNIVAL

The youthful members of Magnolia Palace No. 179, Princes of Syracuse, are now busily engaged in last-minute preparation for their carnival to be presented Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the Pythian building. Among the many attractions to be offered will be bingo tables, wheel-of-fortune, and Gypsy fortune teller, in addition to the various hot dog and soft drink concessions.

Magnolia Palace, the junior Pythian auxiliary for boys 14 to 20, was instituted in April of this year and this is the first venture of the organization to be administered wholly by the boys themselves. The palace deputy and the five Knights comprising the board of governors are active members of Stonewall Lodge No. 8 and act as an advisory committee to the junior lodge. However, the affairs of the auxiliary are governed by the boys themselves, and the following youngsters were selected to have charge of the carnival: Billy White, Jake Coon, Dave Zismer, Bobby Cargile, Glen fleming and George Fatheree.

The carnival is open to the public and the Syracusans have secured attractions which will appeal to adults as well as teen-agers. It will be held at the Pythian building, 127 1/2 St. John street.

The Maori people of New Zealand numbered only about 40,000 individuals at the end of the last century, but a high birth rate has brought the total up to nearly 100,000.

The Frank P. Stubbs Memorial Bible Class of the First Presbyterian Church, will not meet as usual today in the Paramount Theater but will go to the church at 9:30 a.m. to attend the rally day exercises. All members are urged to attend and to bring their wives, and other visitors are cordially invited.

The Men's Club of the First Presbyterian Church, F. V. Allison, president, met in the Sunday School rooms at the church for the monthly dinner Saturday night. There was a large and enthusiastic attendance, the party being in the nature of a welcome back home of the pastor, Rev. Earnest Duncan Holloway, who has been away pursuing advanced theological studies during the months of July and August.

SCOUT, CUB ROUNDUP EXTENDED TO OCT. 4

The Second Annual Boy Scout and Cub Round-Up, scheduled to close on September 30, has been extended to October 4, Scout Executive Floyd D. Huddleston announced today.

Many troops and packs in the Ouachita Valley Council have already registered new members, and almost every unit now has from one to ten new members who are almost qualified, Huddleston said.

Council officials stated that many churches, service clubs and civic groups throughout the area are beginning the organization of new troops and cub packs. Any group which desires to obtain it may receive full information from the Boy Scout headquarters at the Ouachita Parish courthouse.

Turkeys were brought back to Europe for the first time early in the 16th century.

IN MOVIELAND

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 27.— (AP) — Spending money is no problem for the glitter queens and kings of the movie factories, but spending time is another matter.

An independent survey (conducted by this independent reporter) shows that movie stars, who work a theoretical eight-hour day, spend an average of only 53.2 minutes of actual emoting before the cameras. Also, this vastly unscientific report declares, they donate 67.3 minutes for makeup (double this for women), 12 minutes to studying the script, 17 for arguing with the director, 14 for press interviews, 25 for miscellaneous functions.

This leaves a whopping amount of time to kill, and some slay the hours aimlessly, others make use of them. Joan Crawford, for example, is an inveterate knitter, as are Deborah Kerr and Jane Powell. Ronald Reagan and Robert Taylor talk politics with anyone around. Fred MacMurray, a frustrated artist, sketches anything in sight, pausing now and then to read the stock market reports.

Cary Grant indulges in guessing games. Lana Turner is one of the few who reads books between scenes and she always has a phonograph playing the latest records. Gene Kelly figures out his next dance routine. Loretta Young sews things for her children.

Van Johnson answers his fan mail. Clark Gable pulls a chair out on the set and shoots the breeze with the crew. Olivia de Havilland reads palms. Robert Mitchum gripes.

Dana Andrews talks boating with anyone who'll listen. When Ethel Barrymore isn't resting, she'll gab baseball with fellow workers. Walter Pidgeon trots around to other sets. James Stewart tinkles with a piano if one is handy.

Mickey Rooney and Red Skelton, the old hams, entertain the set with their routines. Abbott and Costello play a short-handed rummy game and Ray Milland a kind of Hungarian rummy. John Wayne is a pinochle man. Spencer Tracy eats candy in his room or if he's in a good mood, converses on the set. Bing Crosby just disappears.

Then there are some who spend the time laboring over a hot racing form. But they prefer to remain anonymous.

DR. GERALD WENDT

ATOMIC ERA TO BE DISCUSSED

Noted Author, Scientist Will Discuss Late Marvels In Address Here

Dr. Gerald Wendt, editor of the new science magazine, "Science Illustrated," and former authority for Time, Life and Fortune magazines on scientific and industrial developments, is to give members of the Monroe Town Hall on Monday, September 29, a talk on "On the Horizon of Science," as its guest speaker, Mrs. J. B. Kugler, the club's program chairman, has announced. He has recently finished a stint as editor of "The Atomic Age Opens," the new Pocket Book which has sold over a million copies.

In a visit made possible by arrangement with the Associated Clubs, the national organization with which the group is affiliated, Dr. Wendt is expected to describe the new "miracles" evolved by scientists for large-scale production now that the war is over, and to describe the anticipated changes in home and community life, business and industry with their wide-spread use by the public.

Dr. Wendt's knowledge of such projected products as helicopters, two-way radio telephone, radar, the atomic bomb, the use of yeast growths to give us better food, paint which transmits light, conversion of straw into motor fuel, furnaces to keep homes cool in summer, and other newly-created marvels provide him with illustrations for the theme of his talk.

Dr. Wendt is well known to Associated Club members, for he has spoken in most of the clubs and in many he is being brought back by a truly popular demand, for what he has to say is ever new and ever interesting because of the constantly changing conditions in his field.

L. S. U. DEAN ADDRESSES MEDICAL ALUMNI GROUP

Various changes in medical school programs were outlined by Dr. Vernon W. Lippard, dean of the L. S. U. medical school, at the quarterly meeting of the Fifth District L. S. U. Alumni Association Thursday night.

The association was organized only recently and, according to Dr. Fred M. Marx, of Monroe, its secretary-treasurer, has active or prospective chapters in almost every state.

Officers, besides Dr. Marx, are Dr. J. E. McConnell, of Monroe, president; Dr. O. L. Tugwell, of Bastrop, vice-president, and Dr. Jack Rawls of Bastrop, representative from the Fifth District group.

FINK HORSES BEAT WORLD CHAMPIONS

Two Tennessee walking horses that became world champions at the Shelbyville, Tenn., show three weeks ago were defeated by entires from Herbert J. Fink's Hideaway Stables at Jackson, Miss., Thursday and Friday nights.

Miss Monroe was awarded first place in the junior championship at Jackson, getting the judges' decision over Pope's Black Ace which had won the junior gelding championship at Shelbyville.

In the 2-year-old championship at Jackson the Hideaway Stables' Makers Igo was the winner over Skipper's Merry Boy which had won the stallion-gelding world title at Shelbyville.

Wilson Allen the 4th, the Hideaway Stables' stud, was second in the Jackson stallion class. Wilson Allen and Makers Igo swept the events in which they were entered at the Vicksburg show earlier in the week. Miss Monroe was not shown there.

N. J. C. STUDENTS FROM 8 STATES

Interesting Figures Are Listed By Registrar Hamner

Freshmen, numbering 438, lead the list in fall enrollment at Northeast Junior College, according to Saturday's announcement by B. S. Hamner, registrar. Sophomores totaled 297 to make the largest group of upper classmen in the history of the institution. Ten irregular and special students are included in the final registration figures reaching 745.

The number comprises 412 civilians, 329 veterans and four in the V5 program.

Men outnumber women in every classification with the exception of special students, including one man and four women. The freshman group comprises 310 men and 128 women. The ration is greater in the sophomore list where men more than triple the number of coeds, with 228 against 69. Only two women veterans are enrolled.

According to parishes, Ouachita scores a big lead with 376, comprising 257 men and 119 women. Following in numerical order, the next four parishes and their registrations are: Morehouse, 70; Richland, 63; Franklin, 50; West Carroll, 30.

Among the eight states represented on the campus Arkansas takes highest place, with Texas running a close second. Other states included are: Georgia, Indiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Missouri and New York.

Joseph Frost from Luxembourg wins the distinction of being the only representative of a foreign country enrolled this fall.

Germany used to base its entire synthetics program on the vast coal fields of the Ruhr, to make up for such lacks as natural oil and rubber.

NJC FRESHMEN MONARCHS

Shown in the honor seats shortly after being crowned in ceremonies opening a dance at Northeast Junior College on Freshman Day, Friday, are Miss Janet Voorhees, 17, of 320 Pine street, Monroe, who ruled as queen, and Fred Slaton, Route 2, West Monroe, who had won the race for king on the football field shortly before. Standing beside the queen is Dr. A. S. Caldwell, dean of the junior college division of LSU, and at the right is Dr. Rodney Cline, NJC dean.

CITY TEACHERS GROUP MEETING

Association Has First Session Of Year; Reports Rendered

The Monroe City Teachers' Association held its first meeting for the 1947 session at Central Grammar School Friday at 3:30 p.m. Miss Howard Willard, president, presided, and opened the meeting by the singing of "America" by the assemblage. Miss Clara Hall was piano accompanist. Prayer was by Miss Julia Wossman.

During the business session, Miss Geneve Castles was elected delegate to the state teachers' convention in Alexandria in November. Alternates named were Mr. Golson and Elgin Boggs. The association's second delegate will be Miss May Coker, elected last year for a two-year period. Alternates for Miss Coker were named as Mrs. Orrie Rust and Mrs. Howard Willard.

The program chairman, Mrs. Eulalia McCoy, presented Miss Marjorie Oliver, who reported on the Child Guidance workshop held during the summer at Louisiana Tech. Nine members of the association attended the workshop, sponsored by the supervisors of the Fifth District and part of a nation-wide study of child development. Miss Oliver stated that the basic philosophy underlying this study is that all behavior is caused. There are six areas of child life to be understood by the teacher, who must learn to accept each child emotionally. She quoted Dr. Daniel Prescott, one of the consultants of Chicago University, thus: "Every human being is valuable and has a right to these conditions and relationships at school that will give him his best chance to develop his potentialities."

The second speaker, Miss Eloise Cann, brought a report from the legislative workshop held in L. S. U. this summer. Eight educational groups in Louisiana were invited to this workshop, and the Monroe City Teachers' Association had representatives on each of seven committees. Points stressed by these study groups were: The need for more school buildings, the strengthening of teacher welfare laws, etc.

The third number on the program was a discussion by Mrs. Louise Brown of a summer health conference held in Baton Rouge at L. S. U. The purpose of this workshop was to study the state program of health, physical education and safety with a view of revising it to meet the school needs.

Miss Emma Jane Weil, who had spent the summer in study at Ohio State University, gave an interesting report of work done there.

An overview of the N. E. A. convention in Cincinnati was presented by Miss Eloise Cann, who served as one of ten delegates from Louisiana. Miss Cann stated that there were 2,259 delegates in all at the convention with the 48 states, Alaska and Hawaii represented. Every aspect of the N. E. A. work was studied during the convention period.

The last number on the program was a report by Mrs. Eulalia McCoy of a speech clinic held at Louisiana Tech where speech defects of children of different ages were studied.

The meeting closed with an inspirational message from Superintendent E. L. Neville, who expressed appreciation of the splendid reports, giving evidence of the teachers' professional advancement. He then introduced the new teachers for the year. He next announced that all teachers in the Monroe City School System, both white and colored, will receive this year a $450 increase over the annual salary of last year. This announcement was followed by a round of applause from the assemblage, after which the meeting was adjourned.

THE NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

By Max Hall
(Substituting for James Marlow)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Some notes on crime in the U. S. A.:

The F. B. I. issued a crime report the other day.

The report said crime in the first six months of 1947 was up 7.5 per cent in rural areas and down 2.3 per cent in the cities and towns, compared with the same period of 1946.

The F. B. I. didn't give the totals for the whole country.

But if you add the rural crimes and the city crimes together, you discover that crime in the whole country was down one per cent.

Now, that decline appears to be a glimmer of good news in the crime picture, because crime increased sharply from 1945 to 1946, and many feared it was still going up.

But the situation is dimmed a bit by the fact that the slight decrease this year is more than accounted for by a 20 per cent drop in auto thefts.

If you omit auto thefts from the figures, you find that other major crimes increased nearly three per cent.

The big decrease in auto thefts is not wholly explained, but this may have something to do with it: Police are recovering about 95 per cent of all stolen cars these days.

Another thing that isn't fully explained is why rural crime has been increasing so much faster than city crime since the war.

An F. B. I. official, when asked why, said: "One factor may be that law enforcement in some rural areas is weaker than that of the cities."

Incidentally, murder showed a decline in both rural and urban areas. But burglary, larceny, and rape increased in both town and country.

Ever hear of a lady burglar? The F. B. I. says that police arrested 873 females on burglary charges last year. But 40 times that many males were nabbed for burglary.

Also, 874 females were arrested on robbery charges, and 7,328 on larceny charges. But men far outnumbered women in almost every type of crime.

Burglary is "breaking or entering." Larceny is just stealing without breaking or entering. Robbery is stealing by force or threat of force.

Here's an F. B. I. tip to people who are going out of town for an extended period:

Stop deliveries of milk, newspapers, and mail, and arrange with a neighbor to remove advertising and other articles which may be left at your door.

The reason: "Such material gives notice of an unoccupied house and invites burglars."

About one-third of all residential burglaries in cities are committed in the daytime. But only one out of ten burglaries in business establishments are daylight affairs, because the occupants are usually there all day.

Lock your doors, says the F. B. I.

A police survey in a large city last year revealed that in one month, 100 doors to large business concerns were carelessly left unlocked at night.

The F. B. I. says: "A door left unlocked at night is an invitation to crime just as an automobile parked with the keys in it is an enticement to theft."

And that applies to farm houses as well as business firms, says the F. B. I.

DAMAGE TO CROPS SET AT $200,000

HARRISONBURG, La., Sept. 27.—(Special)—Catahoula parish crops suffered nearly $200,000 damage in the heavy winds and rains that hit central Louisiana last week-end as an aftermath to the hurricane that struck the gulf coast.

County Agent Emmett Johnson, after a survey of the parish, said only 40 per cent of the cotton crop had been picked and a damage of 15 to 20 per cent of that remaining in the fields was reported. Catahoula farmers had expected to gin approximately 7,000 bales this year and already had completed 4,500.

Even more disheartening, he said, is the fact that the parish has been unable to make a heavy crop for the past four years because of floodwaters. The farmers escaped floods this year. Approximately 17,000 acres in the parish are planted with cotton.

Damage to what corn remained in the fields was slight, Johnson reported. The corn crop was light this year because of a drouth condition. All the corn was blown to the ground but Johnson intimated much of it could be harvested.

The bean crop escaped heavy damage and most farmers told Johnson they could save it.

Normal coal output of the Ruhr in the late 1930's was more than 100,000,000 tons annually.

NEGRO JUVENILES REPEAT OFFENSES

State Still Has No Institution To Confine Young Colored Thieves

Three 14-year-old Negroes were arrested by West Monroe police at 1:25 a.m. Saturday, climaxing a series of night rides by the youths in stolen automobiles. In a statement to police the three implicated a twelve-year-old Negro who upon being arrested readily admitted his guilt of numerous thefts.

West Monroe police said that the four were being held in parish jail charged with breaking and entering and theft, awaiting action of local juvenile authorities. Some members of the group, according to Monroe police, were implicated in a number of burglaries recently.

Mrs. Willie J. Harris, juvenile probation officer, said that in the absence of a state training institute for colored youths there was very little that could be done to the boys considering their age. It was indicated the youngsters would be turned loose.

West Monroe police stated that the three older Negroes were picked up on Nachitoches Street, West Monroe, for speeding. Subsequent questioning revealed that the automobile was the property of Nichols Motor Company, a frequent victim of the group.

The twelve-year-old Negro, under question by Monroe officers, admitted the theft and gave details of two recent stolen autos.

About four weeks ago, he told police, the four stole an automobile from 2400 DeSiard, drove it for several hours, then left the car when it became mired in a ditch on Eighteenth Street. The owner recovered it later that night.

On Monday night, September 22, the group broke into a Ford sedan on the Nichols Motor lot, started the motor, drove east on highway 80 to the overpass where it ran out of gas and abandoned it. Nichols' employes recognized the car early Tuesday morning as they were returning from Jackson, Miss., with a convoy of used cars.

Friday night the boys stole the same Ford that had been abandoned previously and recovered. The automobile had been in their possession for several hours before their arrest.

Ruhr coal accounted for three-quarters of Germany's total production before the war.

Boyle's Notebook

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Sayeth the poor man's philosopher:

When I was a bachelor and the world was young, I once asked a couple:

"What's the toughest year of married life?"

"The first," said the husband promptly.

"The first six," said his wife. The husband looked disconcerted.

"How long have you been married?" I asked.

"Three years," said the wife sweetly.

Traveling around I meet a lot of young people going to the altar, and sometimes it seems that they just use the church as a bus stop on the way to the divorce court.

Getting a divorce in too many cases is like lopping off a foot to cure a bunion. You may lose considerably more than you can spare. I know this is true because of the number of divorced people who tell me they'd give up their new castles in Spain any time to share a wigwam again with the "battleax" or "old blowhard" they shed in a period of pique or frustration.

Many of the harried married today whack apart their marital ties simply because the pair doesn't have enough income or because of the housing shortage which are as old as true love and began with the tale of mankind. Adam and Eve set up housekeeping in a roofless garden without steam heat named "Eden," but which they probably privately called, "Windy Acres" or "Ero Hollow."

We will pass over the fact that at least young Adam and Eve didn't have to face the "in-law" problem. I can't answer that one.

Love does need its groceries, but that doesn't mean young people have to start the tandem life with a high-paying job, a house and a motor car—things it took their parents half a lifetime at the Treadmill to acquire.

My own grandfather and grandmother brought nothing from Ireland but their youth. They spent this and at death left only a legacy of children—but there were seventeen of these. Grandma, incidentally, outlived the old man, which may serve as an enlightening footnote in the controversy as to whether childbirth is harder on husband or wife.

When friends from Ireland wrote to ask grandpa, who was a coal miner, what his life was like over here, he replied:

"It's most children—and grandchildren."

Whenever another child arrived, the family joke was:

"Well, put it under the doorstep for three days and see whether it barks or cries. If it cries, we'll keep it. If it barks—."

Long ago grandma and grandpa went upstairs, and if family prayers count there as much as votes do down here, they must have washed through the pearly gates on a tidal wave.

Had these good people started off life together in a paid-up bungalow, with cash in the bank and grandpa perhaps working as a traveling salesman peddling lightning rods—how different the story!

They would probably have vaulted the family at a dozen kids—if you had any less in those days the neighbors gossipped that you didn't get along well—and started trying to "keep up with the Joneses." And where would that have left me? My father was, by his own count, the fifteenth child. (Editor's note: The sixteenth according to some Boyle family statisticians. The issue is uncertain.)

This only goes to show that if all ancestors had been like some young people of today who won't marry or won't stay married because they have not enough gilt—well, lots of us would not even be here with a mouth to holler through.

Through the ages the ability to laugh together has kept more people happily married—and filled more baby cribs—than all the gold that used to be in the Bank of England.

MRS. BAUR AIDS IN FORMING LODGE

Mrs. Montez Baur, state organizer of Pythian Sisters for Louisiana, last Tuesday attended the institution of the Jennings, La., Lodge, Pythian Sisters, No. 151. There were a large number of charter members.

Those attending from Monroe were: Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Baur, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Shows, Mrs. Louise Fleet, all members of Monroe Temple No. 1.

In 1938, total rolled steel production in the Ruhr nearly equalled the output of the remainder of Europe, with the exception of Russia and England.

NEGRO BOY, 5, IS STRUCK BY AUTO

A five-year-old Negro boy escaped with only minor injuries Saturday morning when he darted from behind a parked car at 2500 DeSiard into the path of an oncoming automobile.

The injured boy, Larry T. Greegs, of 312 Cedar street, was treated at the St. Francis Sanitarium at 12 noon for bruises and cuts.

Luther Stokes, Negro, 206 Magnolia street, was released without charges by Officer Graves of the traffic department who investigated the accident.

GOLLY, PAT! WHAT DO YOU SUPPOSE THOSE CASH CUSTOMERS OFF THAT CRIPPLED AIRLINER ARE COMPLAINING ABOUT?

HMMMM. THEIR PILOT DID A MAGNIFICENT JOB OF BRINGING HIS SHIP IN WITH A WHEEL JAMMED IN ITS HOUSING. HE BALANCED IT ON THE OTHER WHEEL AND ITS NOSE GEAR UNTIL IT WAS BARELY ROLLING. THEY DIDN'T EVEN GET JARRED WHEN IT DRAGGED A WING AND STOPPED. THEY CAN'T KICK ABOUT THAT KIND OF SERVICE.

OH, WELL. THE AIRLINES HAVE VICE PRESIDENTS TO DO THEIR WORRYING FOR THEM... AND CHAZZ REMINDED ME I HAVE MY OWN TROUBLES— LIKE CHOPSTICK JOE WANTING US TO FIND A CARGO TO PAY FOR THIS RETURN TRIP.

SPEAKING OF YOUR PINT-SIZED PARTNER, WHY'S HE SO INTERESTED IN THOSE AIRLINE PASSENGERS?

NOW, LISTEN HERE, YOUNG MAN...

I SHALL WRITE A LETTER...

...PEOPLE IN BOMBAY EXPECTING ME TO...

I HAVE AN APPOINTMENT IN CALCUTTA, OF THE UTMOST IMPORTANCE...

I DEMAND!

NOW, LISTEN, FOLKS, PLEASE! THERE ISN'T A SPARE SHIP HERE. THERE'S ONE ON ITS WAY, BUT IT WON'T ARRIVE UNTIL TOMORROW. I'M SORRY YOU'RE BEING DELAYED, BUT YOU MUST BE PATIENT.

WELL, WHAT DO YOU WANT?

SIMMER DOWN, CHUM. I WOULD HAVE A WORD WITH YOU.

WONDER WHERE CHAZZ IS? WE'RE GASSED UP AND MAY AS WELL TAKE OFF. WE WON'T FIND A CARGO HERE.

LOOK BEHIND YOU...

AH, CAPTAIN LEE, MY GOOD MAN, WILL YOU BE KIND ENOUGH TO DUST OFF THE SOLID PLUSH SEATS? IT SEEMS WE HAVE A PAY LOAD.

Looks Like An Early Frost !

JEEPERS, JANE! YOU'VE GOT ME SHIVERING AGAIN! SEEMS EVERY TIME I TRY TO WARM UP TO YOU LATELY I GET THE COLD SHOULDER! WHAT GIVES ANYWAY?

YOU MEAN YOU DEFINITELY DON'T KNOW, JOE?

I COULD TAKE LESSONS FROM HER!

LISTEN, SUGAR! I HAVEN'T GOT EVEN THE MAKINGS OF AN IDEA! CAN'T YOU THAW ENOUGH TO GIVE ME A HINT?

JOE, YOU'D FREEZE UP, TOO, IF YOU HAD TO TELL A PERSON ABOUT BAD BREATH! WON'T YOU PLEASE ASK YOUR DENTIST, HONEY?

JOE SEES HIS DENTIST!

TO COMBAT BAD BREATH, I RECOMMEND COLGATE DENTAL CREAM! FOR SCIENTIFIC TESTS PROVE THAT IN 7 OUT OF 10 CASES, COLGATE'S INSTANTLY STOPS BAD BREATH THAT ORIGINATES IN THE MOUTH!

"HERE'S WHY: COLGATE DENTAL CREAM HAS AN ACTIVE PENETRATING FOAM THAT GETS INTO THE HIDDEN CREVICES BETWEEN TEETH— HELPS CLEAN OUT DECAYING FOOD PARTICLES— STOP STAGNANT SALIVA ODORS— REMOVE THE CAUSE OF MUCH BAD BREATH. AND COLGATE'S SOFT POLISHING AGENT CLEANS ENAMEL THOROUGHLY, GENTLY, SAFELY!"

COLGATE DENTAL CREAM DOES A SUPER JOB OF POLISHING TEETH, TOO! AND HOW I GO FOR COLGATE'S GRAND WAKE-UP FLAVOR!

LATER — THANKS TO COLGATE DENTAL CREAM
